M'Carthy Hotly Assailed And As Hotly Defended

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was assailed today as a spreader of "slush and slime," and defended as a victim of spiteful slanders, in the week's final session of the Senate debate on the question of censuring him.

The slush and slime charge came from Sen. Stennis (D-Miss), a member of the special committee which recommended censure for McCarthy. Stennis argued the Senate must "condemn" McCarthy's conduct in order to set a standard of political honor.

Republican Sen. Bricker (Ohio) and Goldwater (Ariz) came swiftly to McCarthy's defense, praising him as the symbol of American resistance to communism and blaming Communist influence for the move to rebuke him.

Finally a second member of the censure committee, Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), took the floor and protested sharply against McCarthy's charge that the committee members were "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party.

Carlson declared McCarthy's accusation—made in a speech he put into the Congressional Record Wednesday—was untrue, was a violation of Senate rules and "is therefore out of order."

The Kansas lawmaker likewise protested what he called the "legalistic inquiries" with which the McCarthy side has been bombarding committee members, and declared any "rear-guard" action to delay the proceedings will not go down well with the voters back home.

"We can certainly solve this problem," Carlson said, "without the sacrifice of the dignity of this chamber."

Goldwater (R-Ariz) described the censure move as "the culminating act to destroy America's foremost fighter against communism," and accused McCarthy's foes of hypocrisy.

"The masterminds in this fight have said one thing and meant another," Goldwater declared. "Their propaganda has dripped with idealism, high-mindedness, and lofty sentiments. Their deeds have come from the darkness..."

"All the discredited and embittered figures of the Hiss-Yalta period of American dishonor have crawled out from under their logs to join the efforts to get even... have dipped in the smut pot to discredit Sen. McCarthy and his work against communism."

Goldwater, lean and premature gray, spoke after Ohio's veteran Bricker declared a vote to censure McCarthy would "smack of legislative tyranny" and "would reflect a vindictive passion unworthy of the Congress."

BLAIRSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 12—UP—A mountain preacher who spoke the last rites for a friend killed in a hunting incident and later admitted he fired the fatal shot was jailed Friday on a murder charge.

The Rev. Carl Brewer, 46, was arrested at his rural home near here and placed in the Union county jail without bail privilege on a warrant sworn out by Hershel Towse, brother of Alvin Towse, the hunting victim.

The preacher has told "conflicting stories" about the killing of a squirrel last Friday during a hunt with Towse, said Georgia Bureau of Investigation Lt. Woody Wilson.

The shotgun charge that killed the squirrel also apparently struck Towse, the preacher said. But Wilson said the preacher placed the shooting of the squirrel at different sites in two accounts of the incident.

A coroner's hearing in the death of Towse, the father of eight children left without support, was tentatively re-scheduled for Saturday at 10 a. m. But a hearing on the murder charge may be held first, Wilson said, depending on the evidence produced to support the warrant.

The Reverend Brewer, father of five himself, preached Towse's funeral last Monday. Later he visited the widow and expressed his sympathy but still did not reveal his role in her husband's death. Meanwhile a party of five Tennessee hunters was investigated and cleared in connection with the slaying.

Only after officers recovered a shotgun shell near the spot where Towse was slain and identified it as being fired in Brewer's shotgun did the preacher confess, Wilson said.

TROPICAL STORM NEARING MEXICO
TAMPICO, Nov. 12 (AP)—A storm warning off the coast between Brownsville and Tampico has been issued by the Mexican Weather Bureau.

A Mexican steamer reported high winds and heavy rains in a low pressure area about 120 miles east of the coast between the cities. Winds at the center of the small storm were estimated at 100 miles an hour.

The storm was moving northwest at about 10 miles an hour. It was expected to move inland about noon tomorrow. No large town is in the present path of the storm.

Early today, the weather bureau at New Orleans issued a small craft warning from Brownsville to St. Marks, Fla. It warned of rough seas and winds of 25 to 30 miles an hour along the coast by tonight.

Russia Outlines Views On Ike's Atomic Plan

Vishinsky Urges Security Council Have Supervision

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 12 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today Moscow would like to take part in President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program—but on conditions so far fought by the West.

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister told the U.N. Assembly's political committee that the proposed international atomic agency suggested by the United States and its atomic allies should be inside the United Nations and subject to the Security Council.

The Eisenhower plan, as endorsed by Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, South Africa and Australia, envisions the creation of the international agency as a specialized agency of the U.N., with a loose tie to the world organization.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, replied briefly to Vishinsky. For the first time, he told the committee that the United States never has said the agency should not be linked to the Security Council. He stressed, however, that the United States was anxious to avoid getting the atomic agency tangled up in the veto.

The tone of the one hour and 45 minute speech by Vishinsky and Lodge's brief reply showed that both sides are jockeying for the best position in the closed-door negotiations which appear to be in the offing.

In short, it appeared neither side has definitely and finally made up its mind. Lodge will make a detailed reply early next week, probably Monday.

Vishinsky made these points in his speech:

1. The United States and its atomic allies want the proposed international atomic agency to be a specialized agency of the U.N., having a loose tie to the U.N.

2. Moscow wants the agency to be definitely within the U.N. and reporting to the Security Council.

3. The West wants the agency to be a clearing house for authorizing movement of fissionable material from one place to another as needed.

Russia opposes this provision, claiming it is an infringement upon the sovereignty of nations and that there is no appeal from the decision of the agency.

4. There is little chance for success.

5. The West German cabinet decided to refer the treaties to a five-man cabinet committee. On it were represented each of the five parties in Adenauer's coalition government, Vice Chancellor Frick and Bluecher headed it.

The committee will report back to the full cabinet in a week.

Both the moderate rightist Free Democrats and the rightist German party were reported to have demanded that Adenauer negotiate annexes to the Saar agreement to make it more acceptable to Germany.

The cabinet blowup was unexpected. It had been calculated to approve the draft ratification bills for presentation at once to the Bundesrat for a preliminary go-around next week, and to the Bundestag for debate scheduled Dec. 16. Whether that timetable can be followed now is uncertain.

SHIVERS PLANS TO 'RUN FOR HOME'
BOCA RATON, Fla., Nov. 12—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said Friday that he doesn't know whether he will support Mr. Eisenhower for president in 1956, though he supported him in 1952.

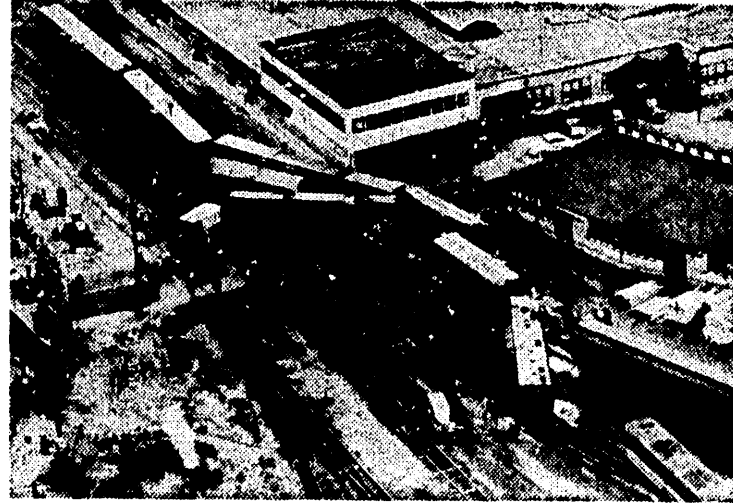

But Shivers, who is attending the national governors conference in Boca Raton, praised the President and said he doesn't feel he has lost personal popularity.

He charged that an "ultra liberal faction" is trying to make a labor party out of the Democratic party. And, he said he thinks the Democratic party needs a candidate in 1956 who is a "moderate middle of the road," though he has nobody in particular in mind.

He thinks Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, is an "extremist." Of his own political ambitions, Shivers said, "the next time I run I'm going to be running for home."

8-YEAR-OLD DIES OF FOOTBALL INJURIES

Saar Settlement Dispute Boils In West Germany

BONN, Nov. 12—UP—The Saar crisis broke wide open again Friday, threatening to wreck the Western defense plans based on the Western European Union.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's cabinet wrangled through four hours of debate over the Saar agreement signed in Paris last Oct. 23. The meeting broke up in an angry deadlock.

Adenauer sent his foreign policy adviser, Herbert Blankenhorn, to Paris for a renewal of talks on the still hotly challenged agreement. The semi-secret mission was cloaked in silence.

The new conflict threatened to stall plans for ratification not only of the Saar agreement, but also to be a clearing house for authorizing movement of fissionable material from one place to another as needed.

With the West German cabinet deadlock complete, the ministers decided to refer the treaties to a five-man cabinet committee. On it were represented each of the five parties in Adenauer's coalition government, Vice Chancellor Frick and Bluecher headed it.

Major Accused Of Treason, By Army

Fast Passenger Train Wrecked; 1 Dead, 26 Hurt

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 12—UP—A mother taking her child to a hospital was killed and 23 other persons were injured Friday when a crack Montreal-to-Boston passenger train jumped the tracks and overturned outside Union Station.

A Boston & Maine Railroad spokesman said the eight-car train, the Red Wing, was traveling at "excessive speed" as it thundered into the busy depot. However, he said cause of the derailment was not known immediately.

Damage unofficially was set at $1 million.

Of the 23 injured, 11 still were hospitalized Friday night including a honeymooning couple whose condition was listed as critical. The newlyweds are Joseph Paz-eretsky, 21, of Malden, Mass., and his bride Eleanor, 20. They were wed Sunday.

Only two back-to-back diesel engines and the rear baggage car remained upright amid twisted tracks and grotesquely fallen cars. The tracks were ripped and bent like pretzels. The cars lay buckled on their sides—like a boy's toy train that has been kicked across a room.

A total of 62 persons, including 10 crewmembers, were aboard the overnight train which left Montreal Thursday night. It was running on schedule.

The dead woman was Mrs. Mary Buckley, 35, of Manchester who was pinned in a car, one hand dangling out a shattered window. Mrs. Buckley was en route to Children's medical center, Boston, with her 11-year-old daughter Catherine who was to undergo a physical checkup.

The child, bleeding slightly from face and hand injuries, was found wandering near the wreck. She was crying: "Mommy, where's my mommy. I want my mommy."

Train crewmen and passengers who could walk carried the injured into union station where they were placed on benches or the floor. Taxicabs and ambulances, running in relays, transported them to two hospitals.

One car crushed into two freight cars on a siding, shoving them through the plateglass of a warehouse. Another car crushed a crossing tender's shack seconds after he leaped to safety.

Dr. J. E. Walsworth Thursday waxed reminiscent. He stated that forty years ago, on November 11, that he took a memorable motor ride. He had just purchased a late model 1914 automobile (previously known as horseless carriage) and he essayed to ride from Shreveport to Delhi.

All went well despite the almost hopeless condition of the highway and in course of time from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. he reached Homer, where he parked his car and spent the night.

On the following morning he set forth and managed to reach Ruston after many distressing hours of motoring and when that college town was reached, the machine refused to go further and to further emphasize the distressed situation, it broke down and required considerable repairs.

The next morning—the third day out from Shreveport—after the needed repairs had been made to the steed, Dr. Walsworth resumed his journey and reached Monroe and later in the day actually arrived in Delhi.

Mrs. Eddie Dalton reports that the other night when light globes were being sold house to house by the North Monroe Lions club that a representative appeared at their home, 107 Country Club road. In his arms reposed a large paper sack.

"I'm selling for my club these little things that are needed and useful in each and every home," he began.

Asked what they were, he replied something about what appeared to be "bulbs."

"This was enough for Eddie. 'Bulbs! Bulbs!' he snorted. 'That is all my wife collected all summer. She has three tubs of 'em in the yard and here you come to sell bulbs!'"

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast
The weatherman predicts that mostly cloudy skies and showers will prevail in parts of the state over the week end, but indications were that the Twin Cities would be more in a fair to partly cloudy region. No important temperature changes were in sight.

However, the prediction called for a cold front to move into north Arkansas Sunday, which could move on down into the Monroe area. CAA weather observers at Selman Field reported that temperatures here have been below the seasonal level for several days. The maximum yesterday was 75, the minimum, 43 degrees.

Former Captive In Korean War Facing Charges

Attorney Declares Ambrose H. Nugent Victim Of Torture

FORT SILL, Okla., Nov. 12—UP—The Army accused Friday of betraying his country and his men in a Chinese prisoner of war camp and becoming a willing tool of his Communist captors.

"I do not feel I am guilty of any crime nor transgression against any Army regulations," Nugent, 44 said. "I think and hope the Army will give me a fair trial. That is all I ask."

The Army advised Nugent Friday that a total of 13 specifications had been filed against him: Seven under the 95th Article of War and six under the 134th Article of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

"Most serious of the specifications were two alleging treasonable offenses in violation of Article 134 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice," an Army spokesman said but refused to go into details.

Among the other specifications were offering information to the Communists, hindering the attempts of fellow POW's to escape and letting the Chinese use his picture and signature on surrender leaflets.

Nugent is the fifth former POW and the third officer accused of collaborating with the Chinese.

The others were Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.; Cpl. Edward S. Dickinson of Crakers Neck, Va.; Lt. Col. Harry Fleming of Racine, Wis., and Col. Frank H. Schwable of Arlington, Va. Schwable is a Marine; the others were Army men.

Army officials in Washington said Nugent was the first former Korean war prisoner accused of offering intelligence to the enemy.

Batchelor was sentenced to life but his punishment was subsequently reduced to 20 years; Dickinson was sentenced to 10 years, and Fleming was ordered discharged under dishonorable conditions.

An investigating board could not find evidence to justify a trial of Schwable. The same thing could happen in Nugent's case, since an investigating officer must first investigate to see whether there is evidence to back up the charges.

The Articles of War under which part of the charges against Nugent were made have been supplanted by the Uniform Code of Military Justice. But the charges had to be made under the old articles because the offenses allegedly were committed before the uniform code was adopted in 1951.

Batchelor, in one of the statements introduced at his trial, said Nugent (then a captain) was chairman of the central peace committee.

TRIAL OF POLICE CAPTAIN RESULTS IN HUNG JURY
BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 12—UP—Federal Judge Allan B. Hannay late Friday dismissed a deadlocked jury in the narcotics trial of former Houston vice squad Capt. Roy Melton Jr.

The jury, which had deliberated a total of 13 hours since 4 p. m. Thursday, returned to the courtroom and at 4 p. m. Friday foreman Luis Almaria, Edinburg, told the court the jurors were unable to arrive at a verdict.

"I don't think we can arrive at a verdict in this case," he said. Almaria said eight of the jurors were for acquitting Melton and four were holding out for a guilty verdict on charges that he mishandled seized narcotics while directing the Houston police department battle against the drug traffic last year.

"Do you think there is any chance of agreement if you deliberate further?" Judge Hannay asked Almaria.

"I really don't think so, your honor."

Judge Hannay then dismissed the jury. He said the case will not be retried before the first of the year, and the time and place of trial should be decided at a later date.

Melton was charged with wrongfully revealing some $30,000 worth of narcotics seized in an Aug. 11, 1953, raid at the home of Earl Vance a Houston Negro drug peddler. The case went to the jury without the defense presenting a witness.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was assailed today as a spreader of "slush and slime," and defended as a victim of spiteful slanders, in the week's final session of the Senate debate on the question of censuring him.

The slush and slime charge came from Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), a member of the special committee which recommended censure for McCarthy. Stennis argued the Senate must "condemn" McCarthy's conduct in order to set a standard of political honor.

Bullets Wipe Out Family Of Five; Husband Blamed

SALINA, Kan., Nov. 12—UP—A family of five was found shot to death in Salina Friday and police said it "unquestionably" was murder and suicide.

A 22-caliber target pistol, eight of its nine shots spent, was found under the body of the husband and father, 36-year-old Roy Henry, a truck driver, police said.

The other victims were his wife, Kathleen Alice (Kay) Henry, 28; and their three children—Ronald Roy, 8; Scott Thomas, 4; and Mary Lynn, 3.

Police said they were investigating two motives.

John Howell, chief of detectives, said it was feared Henry was in financial difficulty and that "there had been family trouble."

Howell said Mrs. Henry filed suit for divorce in 1953 but later dropped the petition.

Police said a note written by Henry was found in the home.

"It said that letters had been mailed by Henry to his mother and to Salina's chief of police, Henry Salmons," police said. However, post office officials said at noon that no letters had appeared for Salmons.

The bodies were found about 3:30 a.m. CST by Mrs. Henry's mother, Mrs. Dan Crough. She told police Mrs. Henry worked for the Vale Potato Chip Co. and when she did not appear this morning, her employer telephoned to inquire about her absence.

Mrs. Crough went to the Henry home, a modest, four-room residence in North Salina, and saw her daughter's body lying on the kitchen floor.

Police estimated the shootings occurred "about midnight."

Vishinsky Urges Security Council Have Supervision

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 12 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today Moscow would like to take part in President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program—but on conditions so far fought by the West.

Ike Bags Limit In 30 Minutes On Lake Duck Hunt

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 12—UP—President Eisenhower went duck hunting Friday and the one-time infantryman proved himself as keen a marksman as he is a trout fisherman and golfer.

The President, sitting in a flat-bottom boat among the reeds of Lake Erie's marshes bagged four ducks—the limit—within 30 minutes. It was his first crack at duck hunting in 20 years.

The President, using a double-barrel, 20 gauge shotgun, bagged two mallards, a pintail, and a black duck within half an hour after taking his post. But his companion, including Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey, his host, were not so successful. It took Humphrey twice as long as the President to get the four duck limit.

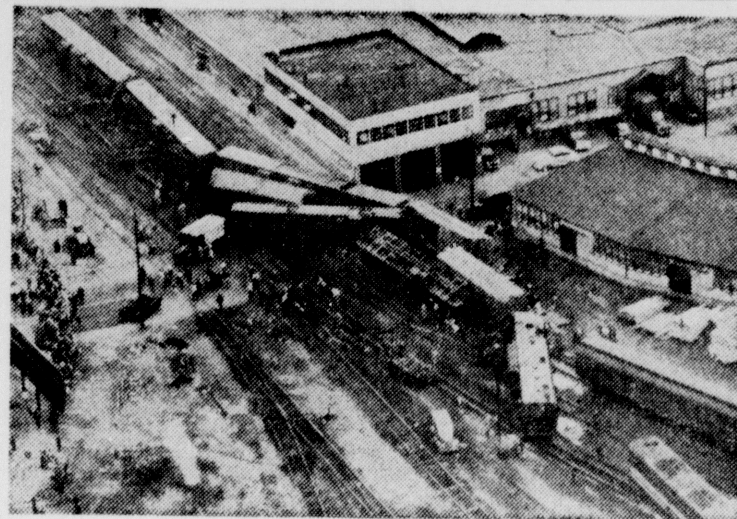

The President came here Thursday night for two days of duck hunting before going to Washington to begin work on a program to lay before a Democratic Congress in January.

But even while he hunted, political rumors were buzzing. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty branded as "nonsense" a story in the Akron Beacon Journal which said the President had told top Republicans he would be a candidate for re-election in 1956.

Hagerty said the same went for the story that the President planned to replace Sherman Adams, his top assistant, with Gov. John Davis Lodge of Connecticut.

The Beacon-Journal story quoted Rep. Joseph L. Carrigg (R-Pa.). Mr. Eisenhower was on the water early Friday morning. The weather was clear but chilly.

The President, like any good hunter, took along provisions for lunch, just in case the ducks weren't around. But after getting the limit, the President waited for Humphrey to get his four, and then they toured the area in separate outboard motorboats. They returned to the lodge where the President had a lunch consisting of a thermos of clear soup, sandwiches, a piece of pie, and an apple.

Saar Settlement Dispute Boils In West Germany

BONN, Nov. 12—UP—The Saar crisis broke wide open again Friday, threatening to wreck the Western defense plans based on the Western European Union.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's cabinet wrangled through four hours of debate over the Saar agreement signed in Paris last Oct. 23. The meeting broke up in an angry deadlock.

Adenauer sent his foreign policy adviser, Herbert Blumenthurn, to Paris for a renewal of talks on the Saar agreement, but also the semi-secret mission was cloaked in silence.

The new conflict threatened to stall plans for ratification not only of the Saar agreement, but also the Paris treaties providing for the rearming of West Germany and ending the occupation. They were signed as a package deal, and ratification votes were scheduled on the same basis.

With the West German cabinet deadlock complete, the ministers decided to refer the treaties to a five-man cabinet committee. On it were represented each of the five parties in Adenauer's coalition government. Vice Chancellor Franz Blumberg headed it.

The committee will report back to the full cabinet in a week.

Jes' Ramblin'

Dr. J. E. Walsworth Thursday waxed reminiscent. He stated that just forty years ago, on November 11, that he took a memorable motor ride. He had just purchased a late model 1914 automobile (previously known as horseless carriage) and he essayed to ride from Shreveport to Delhi.

All went well despite the almost hopeless condition of the highway and in course of time from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. he reached Homer, where he parked his car and spent the night.

On the following morning he set forth and managed to reach Ruston after many distressing hours of motoring and when that college town was reached, the machine refused to go further and to further emphasize the distressed situation, it broke down and required considerable repairs.

The next morning—the third day out from Shreveport, after the needed repairs had been made to the steed, Dr. Walsworth resumed his journey and reached Monroe and later in the day actually arrived in Delhi.

Mrs. Eddie Dalton reports that the other night when light globes were being sold house to house by the North Monroe Lions club that a representative appeared at their home, 107 Country Club road, where he arms reposed a large paper sack.

"I'm selling for my club these little things that are needed and useful in each and every home," he began.

Asked what they were, he replied something about what appeared to be "bulbs."

This was enough for Eddie. "Bulbs! Bulbs!" he snorted. "That is all my wife collected all summer. She has three tubs of 'em in the yard and here you come to" (Continued On Second Page)

Police Wrongly Thought Sheppard Would Confess

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 (AP)—Police who arrested Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard for the murder of his wife expected a speedy confession once he was behind bars, said a witness today. But the confession never came.

This testimony was given by Patrolman Fred F. Drenkhan, a handsome, curly haired member of the seven-man Bay Village police force.

He told of a conference July 30 before he arrested Sheppard in the slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, on July 4.

"The statement was made, wasn't it," Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan asked, "that all you had to do was throw Sam Sheppard in jail away from his brothers and family and he'd confess?"

"I heard something like that," Drenkhan conceded.

"And that he was a dope fiend and that if you put him in jail he'd confess?" Corrigan continued.

The patrolman said he hadn't heard any statement like that then, but thought it was a theory raised later in a letter to police.

Sheppard is on trial for his life in the slaying of his wife. Drenkhan still was on the witness stand when court recessed for the week end.

In a long, grueling, still uncompleted cross examination, Corrigan attempted to demonstrate as he has before that police picked Sheppard as the murderer of Marilyn last July 4 and then—disregarding any other possibility—set out to convict him.

Speaking of the day of the slaying, Corrigan asked: "At that time and on that day it was stated to you that Sam Sheppard had committed murder?"

"Yes, that right," said Drenkhan, the first policeman on the scene of the murder. He said the statement came from two Cleveland detectives who arrived later.

"And from that day down to this," Corrigan said, "all these investigators have done nothing but" (Continued On Second Page)

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast

The weatherman predicts that mostly cloudy skies and showers will prevail in parts of the state over the week end, but indications were that the Twin Cities would be more in a fair to partly cloudy region. No important temperature changes were in sight.

However, the prediction called for a cold front to move into north Arkansas Sunday, which could move on down into the Monroe area. C.A.A. weather observers at Selman Field reported that temperatures here have been below the seasonal level for several days.

The maximum yesterday was 75, the minimum, 43 degrees.

Former Captive In Korean War Facing Charges

Attorney Declares Ambrose H. Nugent Victim Of Torture

FORT SILL, Okla., Nov. 12—UP—The Army accused graving Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent Friday of betraying his country and his men in a Chinese prisoner of war camp and becoming a willing tool of his Communist captors.

"I do not feel I am guilty of any crime nor transgression against any Army regulations," Nugent, 44 said. "I think and hope the Army will give me a fair trial. That is all I ask."

The Army advised Nugent Friday that a total of 13 specifications had been filed against him: Seven under the 95th Article of War and six under the 134th Article of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

"Most serious of the specifications were two alleging treasonable offenses in violation of Article 134 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice," an Army spokesman said but refused to go into details.

Among the other specifications were offering information to the Communists, hindering the attempts of fellow POW's to escape and letting the Chinese use his picture and signature on surrender leaflets.

Nugent is the fifth former POW and the third officer accused of collaborating with the Chinese.

The others were Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.; Cpl. Edward S. Dickinson of Crackers Neck, Va.; Lt. Col. Harry Fleming of Racine, Wis., and Col. Frank H. Schwable of Arlington, Va. Schwable is a Marine; the others were Army men.

Army officials in Washington said Nugent was the first former Korean war prisoner accused of offering intelligence to the enemy.

Batchelor was sentenced to life but his punishment was subsequently reduced to 20 years; Dickinson was sentenced to 10 years, and Fleming was ordered discharged under dishonorable conditions.

An investigating board could not find evidence to justify a trial of Schwable. The same thing could happen in Nugent's case, since an investigating officer must first investigate to see whether there is evidence to back up the charges.

The Articles of War under which part of the charges against Nugent were made have been supplanted by the Uniform Code of Military Justice. But the charges had to be made under the old articles because the offenses allegedly were committed before the uniform code was adopted in 1951.

Batchelor, in one of the statements introduced at his trial, said Nugent (then a captain) was chairman of the central peace committee. (Continued On Second Page)

Trial Of Police Captain Results In Hung Jury

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 12—UP—Federal Judge Allan B. Hannay late Friday dismissed a deadlocked jury in the narcotics trial of former Houston vice squad Capt. Foy Melton Jr.

The jury, which had deliberated a total of 13 hours since 4 p.m. Thursday, returned to the courtroom and at 4 p.m. Friday foreman Luis Alamia, Edinburg, told the court the jurors were unable to arrive at a verdict.

"I don't think we can arrive at a verdict in this case," he said. Alamia said eight of the jurors were for acquitting Melton and four were holding out for a guilty verdict on charges that he mishandled seized narcotics while directing the Houston police department battle against the drug traffic last year.

"Do you think there is any chance of agreement if you deliberate further?" Judge Hannay asked Alamia.

"I really don't think so, your honor."

Judge Hannay then dismissed the jury. He said the case will not be retried before the first of the year, and the time and place of trial should be decided at a later date.

Melton was charged with wrongfully concealing some $30,000 worth of narcotics seized in an Aug. 11, 1953, raid at the home of Earl Voice a Houston Negro drug peddler. The case went to the jury without the defense presenting a witness.

ness of the proposed agency and, in fact, the entire plan if the major powers which have the veto right in the council do not agree in advance that they would not use atomic weapons in the future. The West has opposed such a provision—but Vishinsky reiterated today that Russia would not insist upon such a pledge as a condition on joining the agency.

4. The international agency should be instructed to consider methods of preventing the use of atomic materials for warlike purposes. The Western proposals do not mention that point. Vishinsky said President Eisenhower in his speech to the Assembly last Dec. 8 indicated the plan would relieve the world of the threat of atomic destruction.

Lodge replied that the Disarmament Commission has been ordered to study methods of eliminating the atomic weapon from the world's war chests. He contends that the Eisenhower program is not a disarmament question.

the world's greatest deliberative body."

Bricker contended there is no precedent for punishing a senator for the acts alleged against McCarthy—obstructing and abusing a Senate committee, and likewise giving abusive treatment to an Army general who appeared before McCarthy's own investigations subcommittee.

Moreover, Bricker said, censuring McCarthy would not bar other senators from doing the very things for which McCarthy was rebuked. And so, he declared, the present unprecedented censure session of the Senate is based on an "unparalleled absurdity."

Stennis, a former Mississippi judge, accused McCarthy of exhibiting right up to the present a "moral contempt" of the Senate.

Failure to rebuke McCarthy, Stennis said, will amount to endorsing his conduct and thus telling the youth of the nation that McCarthy's behavior "is the high road of which the Senate approves, and upon which it likes to travel."

Crowds in the galleries began to dwindle as the third day of debate neared its end. Attendance of senators dropped, too.

Sen. Welker (D-Idaho) drew applause from a number of spectators when he protested the small number of senators—it was less than 20—who lingered to hear the Bricker and Goldwater speeches.

Welker said he was "astounded... ashamed to see so many empty seats."

Sen. Bush (R-Conn) presiding at the time, rapped his gavel sharply and cautioned against any further gallery demonstrations.

Both Welker and McCarthy fired a series of questions at Stennis but neither replied directly to his charge that McCarthy's attacks on the Watkins committee—and on a Senate subcommittee which investigated him in 1952—were "slush and slime" on the Senate's good name.

McCarthy asked Stennis if he thought a man loses any of his rights of free speech when he is elected to the Senate.

"Of course not," Stennis replied, adding that a senator gains certain privileges—such as immunity in anything he says on the Senate floor. But with those privileges, Stennis said, goes a "serious obligation" not to abuse them.

Stennis was the first member of the censure committee to come out uncompromisingly in favor of an official rebuke for McCarthy. The group's chairman, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), has said he will avoid the role of "prosecutor." Another member, Sen. Case (R-SD), has proposed dropping the censure charges. In effect, if McCarthy will withdraw his attacks on the 1952 Gillette committee and its members—something McCarthy has declined to do.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), sponsor of the original resolution to censure McCarthy, hailed Stennis' speech as one of the greatest ever delivered on the Senate floor.

Stennis said the censure move stems from a McCarthy attitude of "moral contempt" toward the Senate—one that continues, Stennis declared, to this very day, with McCarthy continuing to blast the Watkins committee members as unwitting "handmaidens" of communism.

The Mississippi said McCarthy's position amounts to telling the Senate and the nation: "I'm fighting communism—you mustn't touch me."

Stennis' speech was another straw in a wind that seemed to be blowing cold on moves by McCarthy's supporters to get the censure resolution toned down if not dropped entirely.

Another Democrat, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), told newsmen he doubted if any compromise could be reached on the issue. Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) and several other Republicans have drafted a resolution milder than the one now before the Senate.

This latter resolution was submitted by the six-man special committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah). It calls for censure of McCarthy on the ground that he:

1. Showed contempt for and obstructed the work of the 1952 Gillette subcommittee, which investigated his financial and other affairs; and described one member of that group, Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), as "a living miracle... without brains or guts."
2. Abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when the general testified before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee on Army handling of alleged subversives.

Today's debate was enlivened in its earlier stages when Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) produced a letter in which one member of the Watkins committee, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), described Zwicker's behavior as "evasive and resentful."

This pretty much agreed with McCarthy's oft-stated appraisal of the general's testimony. And it was in clear conflict with the Watkins committee's findings—approved by Johnson and all the other members—that Zwicker was only doing his duty when he declined to answer some of McCarthy's questions.

Johnson took the floor and acknowledged the Aug. 28, 1954, letter as his. But he said he "got a different slant altogether" on Zwicker when the general appeared at a public hearing of the Watkins committee.

Johnson said he now is convinced Zwicker told McCarthy all he could under presidential and other secrecy directives. He said he fully endorses the Watkins group's finding that Zwicker was not "intentionally irritating, evasive or arrogant."

"Stonewall" Jackson, the Confederate general was accidentally killed by his own men in the battle of Chancellorsville, in 1863.

"Don't say bulbs to me!" he declared.

Turning into the room and with the door closed, he was confronted by his wife, who had read the News-Star-World and from this source had learned that the club in question was selling light globes to raise money for their important project, that of sight conservation.

"What you did, you mistook the man's globes for bulbs, and he just had to walk away with no sale!" she ruefully explained.

In the last three years, the application of modern methods in fire fighting and with most up to date equipment, the city of Monroe has greatly reduced the loss on buildings through this source.

In 1952, loss on buildings by fire is given for Monroe as $229,008.98. For the year 1953, it went down to $174,167.25 and in 1954 through September, $86,972.70.

Loss on contents in 1952 was $292,882.06, making total on buildings and contents for the year $521,891.04. For 1953, loss on contents was cut to $95,054.07, making total loss of $269,221.32.

The year 1954 (through September) showed local loss on buildings of $86,972.70. Loss on contents $43,234.96 or total of $130,207.66.

The per capita loss in 1953 was $5.38 and in 1954 (through September) was cut to $2.60.

Soldiers and former soldiers who were confined with Nugent in Korea have been called to Fort Sill for interviews, it was learned.

Nugent's civilian lawyer, Arthur Cavanaugh, issued a statement saying that his client, far from being a traitor, was a victim of torture.

"He was kept without food or drink for hours, sometimes days," Cavanaugh said. "He was interrogated ceaselessly... he was struck with rifle butts, beaten innumerable times, threatened constantly and had pliers applied to his extremities."

"He suffered physical, mental and emotional tortures from which he probably never will recover."

Highway Patrol Quits Search For Mental Escapee

HILLSBORO, Miss., Nov. 12 —The Mississippi Highway Patrol today called off the search in this area for an escapee from Mississippi's mental hospital at Whitfield.

Highway patrolmen moved out after checking reports of a "mysterious stranger" banging on doors and scaring people. Residents reported he resembled Luther Mussewhite.

The "mysterious stranger" who has been seen three times in the last two days may be Mussewhite, officers believe. He escaped from the state mental hospital at Whitfield Oct. 16.

The latest tip came when the man early today pounded on the door of Fred Carroll's grocery in Scott County between Hillsboro and Forkville.

An Air National Guard helicopter joined the search again today while bloodhounds looked for a fresh trail.

The hounds picked up a trail late yesterday where a man was seen sitting on a log. The trail ran out about three-fourths of a mile away.

A Negro farmer and his two sons saw the man sitting on the log, eating something. The man fled as they approached.

And another report had the man running into a wooded area in the same vicinity a short distance north of Hillsboro.

Pallbearers will be O. D. Boles, V. G. Johns, Jr., Robert Boggs, John Ivy Lebo, Gene Lee and Junior Johns.

CIO Auto Workers Ask Guaranteed Work Year

DETROIT, Nov. 12 —UP—The CIO United Auto Workers voted Friday to seek a guarantee of 52 weeks of work a year for all workers with two years' seniority when the long-term auto contracts run out next spring.

The 1,000 delegates at the UAW's national economic and collective bargaining conference approved recommendations of President Walter Reuther and the international executive board that the guaranteed annual wage plan be given top priority in bargaining sessions.

The delegates also approved recommendations that they seek higher pay (at least 10.3 cents an hour more), bigger pensions, better hospitalization programs and higher overtime pay.

The five-year contracts under which most workers have been working under start running out late next spring.

Reuther and members of the international executive board took note of the move by Carl Stellato, president of the big Ford local 600, and other leaders to make the union's top objective a 30-hour work week.

They said the "day is not distant" when the union probably must seek a shorter work week because of increased automation in automobile plants, which will mean more cars with less employees. But they said the guaranteed annual employment plan must take priority.

"After the guaranteed annual wage has been secured, therefore, the shorter work week will take its place at the top of our collective bargaining agenda along with the continuing fight for higher living standards. The strategy which will determine the timing and relative emphasis of the struggle for these two objectives must of necessity remain flexible at this time," they said.

The UAW national convention in 1953 put guaranteed annual employment (the guaranteed annual wage) at the head of the priority list for the 1955 negotiations. Reuther and other leaders outlined parts of that proposal to the delegates at Friday's meeting.

The plan calls for 52 weeks of work to be guaranteed to all workers who have two years of seniority. For workers with less than two years of seniority, automobile companies,

Optimist Group Presents Award To Ralph Sims

The Monroe-West Monroe Optimist Club in rounding out final activities of Optimist Week bearing the slogan, "Every boy needs a man's helping hand", presented a youth service award to Ralph "Red" Sims of West Monroe at a luncheon meeting held at Tony's Redwood Lounge last night.

Sims duly received this award in recognition of his many outstanding services performed for his community in an aid to develop the youth of our nation.

J. C. Thrower, president, stated that this award will become an annual presentation of the club in connection with their diversified youth program which includes sponsoring the Babe Ruth league, and a yearly oratorical contest.

Bill Dyer, an ex-president in a speech climaxed the week's events of the club, elaborated on Sims' record from a personal standpoint and from the statistics compiled by the award recipient. Dyer stated that Sims had been working with young boys for 14 years along the main line of organized baseball, and also had wielded a personal touch with the boys.

Sims, in 1940 first organized a baseball team among the kids of his neighborhood. At that, in the midst of World War II, as will be remembered, war was rationed. This man in a very unselfish manner saved his precious gas coupons so that he could take his team to various spots for competition on the weekend.

This is just one of the examples by which Sims has endeavored to help youth along. In almost every organized baseball team of which he has been a part, the financial burden of helping support the team has stemmed from his pocketbook in some form or fashion.

Helping to start many boys in the field of baseball, Sims has made various trips with teams to capture district, regional, and to place in tri-state events.

Plumbers Union Has New Member

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 —UP—A Chicago local of the Journeymen's Plumbers Union Friday sent a union card to Dr. Albert Einstein, who said if he had his life to live over he would be a plumber.

try to prove Dr. Sheppard was the murderer."

The state objected and Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin refused to let Drenkhan answer.

Earlier, under direct examination by the state, Drenkhan testified he found no sign of a forced entry to the Sheppard home the day of the murder. Nor, he said, did he find any sign of a struggle on the beach outside.

"The beach was smooth—there was no indication anyone had walked on the beach," he testified. He also said locked screens were on the three windows in the bedroom where Marilyn died.

Dr. Sheppard said a bushy haired prowler killed his wife and knocked him unconscious later on the beach.

The state contends the 30-year-old osteopath beat his wife to death July 4 in their suburban Bay Village home in a quarrel over another woman.

Drenkhan related how he entered the blood spattered Sheppard bedroom to examine the body of the slain woman.

"Did you find any signs of a forcible entry any place in that room?" asked prosecutor Thomas Farnino.

"No sir," replied Drenkhan. "As you examined all the contents of that room did you find in that room any evidence whatsoever of a struggle?"

"No, there wasn't."

thought a man loses any of his rights of free speech when he is elected to the Senate.

"Of course not," Stennis replied, adding that a senator gains certain privileges—such as immunity in anything he says on the Senate floor. But with those privileges, Stennis said, goes a "serious obligation" not to abuse them.

Stennis was the first member of the censure committee to come out uncompromisingly in favor of an official rebuke for McCarthy. The group's chairman, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), has said he will avoid the role of "prosecutor." Another member, Sen. Case (R-SD), has proposed dropping the censure charges, in effect, if McCarthy will withdraw his attacks on the 1952 Gillette committee and its members—something McCarthy has declined to do.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), sponsor of the original resolution to censure McCarthy, hailed Stennis' speech as one of the greatest ever delivered on the Senate floor.

Stennis said the censure move stems from a McCarthy attitude of "moral contempt" toward the Senate—one that continues, Stennis declared, to this very day, with McCarthy continuing to blast the Watkins committee members as unwitting "handmaidens" of communism.

The Mississippiian said McCarthy's position amounts to telling the Senate and the nation: "I'm fighting communism—you mustn't touch me."

Stennis' speech was another straw in a wind that seemed to be blowing cold on moves by McCarthy's supporters to get the censure resolution toned down if not dropped entirely.

Another Democrat, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), told newsmen he doubted if any compromise could be reached on the issue. Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) and several other Republicans have drafted a resolution milder than the one now before the Senate.

This latter resolution was submitted by the six-man special committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah). It calls for censure of McCarthy on the ground that he:

1. Showed contempt for and obstructed the work of the 1952 Gillette subcommittee, which investigated his financial and other affairs; and described one member of that group, Sen. Hendrickson (R-N.J.), as "a living miracle . . . without brains or guts."

2. Abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when the general testified before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee on Army handling of alleged subversives.

Today's debate was enlivened in its earlier stages when Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) produced a letter in which one member of the Watkins committee, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), described Zwicker's behavior as "evasive and resentful."

This pretty much agreed with McCarthy's oft-stated appraisal of the general's testimony. And it was in clear conflict with the Watkins committee's findings—approved by Johnson and all the other members—that Zwicker was only doing his duty when he declined to answer some of McCarthy's questions.

Johnson took the floor and acknowledged the Aug. 28, 1954, letter as his. But he said he "got a different slant altogether" on Zwicker when the general appeared at a public hearing of the Watkins committee.

Johnson said he now is convinced Zwicker told McCarthy all he could under presidential and other secrecy directives. He said he fully endorses the Watkins group's finding that Zwicker was not "intentionally irritating, evasive or arrogant."

"Stonewall" Jackson, the Confederate general was accidentally killed by his own men in the battle of Chancellorsville, in 1863.

Turning into the room and with the door closed, he was confronted by his wife, who had read the News-Star—World and from this source had learned that the club in question was selling light globes to raise money for their important project, that of sight conservation.

"What you did, you mistook the man's globes for bulbs, and he just had to walk away with no sale!" she ruefully explained.

In the last three years, the application of modern methods in fire fighting and with most up to date equipment, the city of Monroe has greatly reduced the loss on buildings through this source.

In 1952, loss on buildings by fire is given for Monroe as $229,008.98. For the year 1953, it went down to $174,167.25 and in 1954 through September, $86,972.70.

Loss on contents in 1952 was $292,882.06, making total on buildings and contents for the year $521,891.04. For 1953, loss on contents was cut to $95,054.07, making total loss of $269,221.32.

The year 1954 (through September) showed local loss on buildings of $86,972.70. Loss on contents $43,234.96 or total of $130,207.66.

The per capita loss in 1953 was $5.38 and in 1954 (through September) was cut to $2.60.

Highway Patrol Quits Search For Mental Escapee

HILLSBORO, Miss., Nov. 12

—The Mississippi Highway Patrol today called off the search in this area for an escapee from Mississippi's mental hospital at Whitefield.

Highway patrolmen moved out after checking reports of a "mysterious stranger" banging on doors and scaring people. Residents reported he resembled Luther Musselwhite.

The "mysterious stranger" who has been seen three times in the last two days may be Musselwhite, officers believe. He escaped from the state mental hospital at Whitefield Oct. 16.

The latest tip came when the man early today pounded on the door of Fred Carroll's grocery in Scott County between Hillsboro and Forkville.

An Air National Guard helicopter joined the search again today while bloodhounds looked for a fresh trail.

The sounds picked up a trail late yesterday where a man was seen sitting on a log. The trail ran out about three-fourths of a mile away.

A Negro farmer and his two sons saw the man sitting on the log, eating something. The man fled as they approached.

And another report had the man running into a wooded area in the same vicinity a short distance north of Hillsboro.

CIO Auto Workers Ask Guaranteed Work Year

DETROIT, Nov. 12 —UP—The CIO United Auto Workers voted Friday to seek a guarantee of 52 weeks of work a year for all workers with two years' seniority when the long-term auto contracts run out next spring.

The 1,000 delegates at the UAW's national economic and collective bargaining conference approved recommendations of President Walter Reuther and the international executive board that the guaranteed annual wage plan be given top priority in bargaining sessions.

The delegates also approved recommendations that they seek higher pay (at least 10.3 cents an hour more), bigger pensions, better hospitalization programs and higher overtime pay.

The five-year contracts under which most workers have been working under start running out late next spring.

Reuther and members of the international executive board took note of the move by Carl Stellato, president of the big Ford local 600, and other leaders to make the union's top objective a 30-hour work week.

They said the "day is not distant" when the union probably must seek a shorter work week because of increased automation in automobile plants, which will mean more cars with less employees. But they said the guaranteed annual employment plan must take priority.

"After the guaranteed annual wage has been secured, therefore, the shorter work week will take its place at the top of our collective bargaining agenda along with the continuing fight for higher living standards. The strategy which will determine the timing and relative emphasis of the struggle for these two objectives must of necessity remain flexible at this time," they said.

The UAW national convention in 1953 put guaranteed annual employment (the guaranteed annual wage) at the head of the priority list for the 1955 negotiations. Reuther and other leaders outlined parts of that proposal to the delegates at Friday's meeting.

The plan calls for 52 weeks of work to be guaranteed to all workers who have two years of seniority. For workers with less than two years of seniority, automobile companies,

Optimist Group Presents Award To Ralph Sims

The Monroe-West Monroe Optimist Club in rounding out final activities of Optimist Week bearing the slogan, "Every boy needs a man's helping hand", presented a youth service award to Ralph "Red" Sims of West Monroe at a luncheon meeting held at Tony's Redwood Lounge last night.

Sims duly received this award in recognition of his many outstanding services performed for his community in an aid to develop the youth of our nation.

J. C. Throver, president, stated that this award will become an annual presentation of the club in connection with their diversified youth program which includes sponsoring the Babe Ruth league, and a yearly oratorical contest.

Bill Dyer, an ex-president in a speech climaxing the week's events of the club, elaborated on Sims' record from a personal standpoint and from the statistics compiled by the award recipient. Dyer stated that Sims had been working with young boys for 14 years along the main line of organized baseball, and also had wielded a personal touch with the boys.

Sims, in 1940 first organized a baseball team among the kids of his neighborhood. At that, in the midst of World War II, as will be remembered, gas was rationed. This man in a very unselfish manner saved his precious gas coupons so that he could take his team to various spots for competition on the weekend.

This is just one of the examples by which Sims has endeavored to help youth along. In almost every organized baseball team of which he has been a part, the financial burden of helping support the team has stemmed from his pocketbook in some form or fashion.

Helping to start many boys in the field of baseball, Sims has made various trips with teams to capture district, regional, and to place in tri-state events.

Plumbers Union Has New Member

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 —UP—A Chicago local of the Journeymen's Plumbers Union Friday sent a union card to Dr. Albert Einstein, who said if he had his life to live over he would be a plumber.

Stephen M. Bailey, business manager of the local, sent a letter with the card which assured the famed mathematician that he could catch on easily as a plumber here.

try to prove Dr. Sheppard was the murderer."

The state objected and Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin refused to let Drenkhan answer.

Earlier, under direct examination by the state, Drenkhan testified he found no sign of a forced entry to the Sheppard home the day of the murder. Nor, he said, did he find any sign of a struggle on the beach outside.

"The beach was smooth—there was no indication anyone had walked on the beach," he testified.

He also said locked screens were on the three windows in the bedroom where Marilyn died.

Dr. Sheppard said a bushy haired prowler killed his wife and knocked him unconscious later on the beach.

The state contends the 30-year-old osteopath beat his wife to death July 4 in their suburban Bay Village home in a quarrel over another woman.

Drenkhan related how he entered the blood spattered Sheppard bedroom to examine the body of the slain woman.

"Did you find any signs of a forcible entry any place in that room?" asked prosecutor Thomas Parrino.

"No sir," replied Drenkhan. "As you examined all the contents of that room did you find in that room any evidence whatsoever of a struggle?"

"No, there wasn't."

Gable Well-Fixed But Not Rich; Has Huge Lazy Streak

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U)—"After 25 years in the movie business, I'm not going to work my head off." This was Clark Gable talking. He was reflecting on his past, present and future in his usual offhanded manner. A big man with an easy grin, he lacks any pretense. He scoffs at the title of "king," which Hollywood pins on him despite the fact that films of other stars earn more money.

Although he has two or three pictures lined up and could name his deal at any studio in town, he indicated he will space his work with plenty of time between films. Does this mean he is "loaded" financially?

"Let's say I'm in pretty good shape," said Gable, who is considered one of the most money-wise of stars. "I'm not rich by any means. But I'm comfortable. That's all I ask of life—to be warm, well fed and comfortable."

Among the comforts and diversions he enjoys in life are good female companionship, travel and fishing. He'll talk for hours about fishing—about the only subject on which he is voluble. I asked him why he liked it so much.

"Because fishing is a lazy man's sport," he said, "and that's me—a lazy man. I like to hunt, but there's a lot of walking involved. Fishing is easy; you can just sit and wait."

He enthused about a recent trip to La Paz, Mexico. He has been marlin fishing everywhere from Chile to Long Island—"but I saw more marlin at La Paz in two weeks than I did in all the other places put together." Using a light tackle, he caught 28.

Gable's longest stretch of traveling was in 1932 and '33 when he spent 22 months abroad. He was one of the stars seeking tax benefits by working out of the country. He said he enjoyed the European life and hopes to return there. But his big ambition is for a safari through Africa, where he filmed "Mogambo."

"I saw a lot of the continent," he commented, "but there was always some assistant director at your elbow, telling you to hurry along. Next time I want to do it right. I want to take about six months and really see Africa. I got to know many of the white hunters there; 15 were with our company. I'll get one of them to lead a safari and we'll just take off."

"Mostly I'll just travel. The big game don't interest me. I like the smaller game—sheep, deer, ducks, geese and so forth."

Reflecting on his career, Gable said that "Mogambo" was the only really good picture he has had in the last 10 years. He made a slight exception for "Command Decision," for which choice he was responsible. The play was originally sent to him. He turned it down but induced MGM to buy the film rights. He wasn't entirely happy with the result.

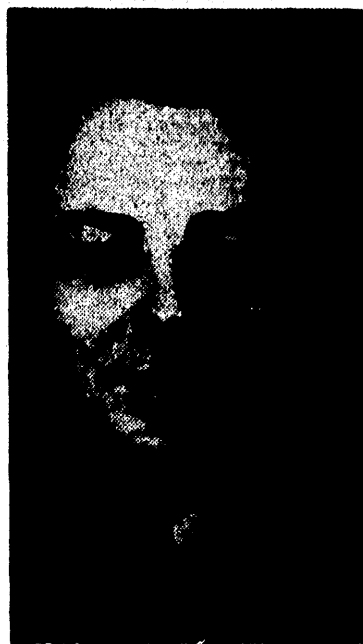

What are his favorite films? "If you really want to go back, you can pick ones like 'It Happened One Night,' 'Test Pilot,' 'San Francisco,' 'Boom Town,' and 'Gone With the Wind,' of course."

$15 Million In Offshore Leases To Be Cancelled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—U.S. Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay said Friday the comptroller general has ruled that Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., Oklahoma City, may withdraw erroneous bids totaling almost $15 million for oil and gas leases on the outer continental shelf off Louisiana.

McKay said Acting Comptroller General Frank H. Weltzel also ruled that the Bureau of Land Management must refund to Kerr-McGee $2,932,800 which the firm put up as a deposit for nine high bids it made in the oil and gas lease sale last Oct. 13. The bureau also must refund $420,000 of deposits Kerr-McGee deposited on three parcels on which it was not high bidder.

On the day after the lease sale, Kerr-McGee had advised the department it had made a "palpable mistake" in submitting its bids. The firm claimed it believed it was bidding on blocks instead of tracts in the Vermilion area in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana.

The "Kerr" in Kerr-McGee is Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.). Weltzel held that "it is a fundamental principle of law that the acceptance of a bid with knowledge of an error therein does not constitute a valid and binding contract."

He also held that evidence in support of the error was sufficient to establish that an error had, in fact, been made.

Merle Lichtenfels' Father Dies In Pa.

Merle Lichtenfels, engineer with the Columbia Carbon company and well known locally, received word of the death of his father, Fred Lichtenfels, 67, at the family home in Manor, Pa., early Thursday, after an illness of less than a week.

The funeral will be held in the Presbyterian Church in Manor Sunday afternoon.

He leaves his wife; his son and three daughters.

New Hampshire has 131 covered bridges. The 132nd was torn down in the spring of 1954 in Norwich because repairs would have cost about $13,000. The span over the Ompompanoosuc river had originally cost $3,987.87 more than a century ago.

Howell Refuses To Accept Defeat In New Jersey

TRENTON, N. J., (U)—Democrat Charles R. Howell, refusing to concede to Republican Clifford P. Case, today seeks court orders throughout the state for a recount of the New Jersey senatorial election.

Terming the results of election "extremely close," a party spokesman declared the people of New Jersey are entitled to know who is their rightful representative.

Case was 3,469 votes ahead of Howell on the basis of official returns from 20 counties and unofficial returns from the 21st—Camden—where a canvass still is under way.

"The present margin of difference is less than one fifth of 1 per centum of the total vote cast," said State Democratic Chairman George E. Brunner of Camden.

"An error of one vote" in each of the state's 3,998 election districts "would be enough to reverse the present trend of the count."

Case has announced victory in the election on the basis of returns so far, which showed he polled 861,627 to 858,158 for Howell.

Railway Brotherhood And Clerks To Meet

Quachita Lodge No. 588, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks will meet in the Missouri Pacific Booster hall Tuesday at 7:45 p.m.

Important business will be considered and officers for the new year will be nominated at this meeting.

O. J. Hawthorne, president, urges all members to attend.

because one of its members differed from the rest:

"Perhaps one day our legislature may see fit to decide that a majority verdict of say 10-12ths may be valid."

Many lawyers opposed the idea of majority verdicts in murder trials.

"British justice has been built up on the belief that an accused man is always entitled to the benefit of any doubt in the minds of his fellow men," said one.

English Justice Seeks To Reduce Size Of Juries

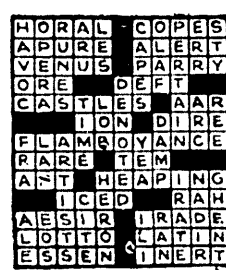

LONDON (U)—Lord Goddard, the lord chief justice of England, suggests the size of juries be reduced from 12 to 7 in all court actions except murder trials. And he says verdicts should not be unanimous but by majority vote.

Lord Goddard says retrials have become more frequent recently because one "unreasonable or prejudiced juror" can cause a mistrial. Smaller juries sat in courts during the war and served without risk of real injustices, he contends.

The question of a majority vote by reduced juries also has been advanced by Sir Gerald Dodson, senior judge of Old Bailey, London's criminal court. He told a jury which could not reach a verdict

Gable Well-Fixed But Not Rich; Has Huge Lazy Streak

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — "After 25 years in the movie business, I'm not going to work my head off."

This was Clark Gable talking. He was reflecting on his past, present and future in his usual offhanded manner. A big man with an easy grin, he lacks any pretense. He scoffs at the title of "king," which Hollywood pins on him despite the fact that films of other stars earn more money.

Although he has two or three pictures lined up and could name his deal at any studio in town, he indicated he will space his work with plenty of time between films. Does this mean he is "loaded" financially?

"Let's say I'm in pretty good shape," said Gable, who is considered one of the most money-wise of stars. "I'm not rich by any means. But I'm comfortable. That's all I ask of life—to be warm, well fed and comfortable."

Among the comforts and diversions he enjoys in life are good female companionship, travel and fishing. He'll talk for hours about fishing—about the only subject on which he is voluble. I asked him why he liked it so much.

"Because fishing is a lazy man's sport," he said, "and that's me—a lazy man. I like to hunt, but there's a lot of walking involved. Fishing is easy; you can just sit and wait."

He enthused about a recent trip to La Paz, Mexico. He has been marlin fishing everywhere from Chile to Long Island—"but I saw more marlin at La Paz in two weeks than I did in all the other places put together." Using a light tackle, he caught 28.

Gable's longest stretch of traveling was in 1952 and '53 when he spent 22 months abroad. He was one of the stars seeking tax benefits by working out of the country. He said he enjoyed the European life and hopes to return there. But his big ambition is for a safari through Africa, where he filmed "Mogambo."

"I saw a lot of the continent," he commented, "but there was always some assistant director at your elbow, telling you to hurry along. Next time I want to do it right. I want to take about six months and really see Africa. I got to know many of the white hunters there; 15 were with our company. I'll get one of them to lead a safari and we'll just take off."

"Mostly I'll just travel. The big game don't interest me. I like the smaller game—sheep, deer, ducks, geese and so forth."

Reflecting on his career, Gable said that "Mogambo" was the only really good picture he has had in the last 10 years. He made a slight exception for "Command Decision," for which choice he was responsible. The play was originally sent to him. He turned it down but induced MGM to buy the film rights. He wasn't entirely happy with the result.

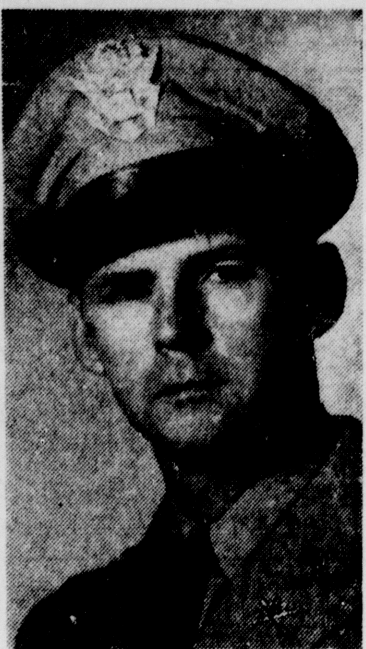

What are his favorite films? "If you really want to go back, you can pick ones like 'It Happened One Night,' 'Test Pilot,' 'San Francisco,' 'Boom Town,' and 'Gone With the Wind,' of course."

It will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Army Reserve Training Center at Selman Field.

$15 Million In Offshore Leases To Be Cancelled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—UP—Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay said Friday the comptroller general has ruled that Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., Oklahoma City, may withdraw erroneous bids totaling almost $15 million for oil and gas leases on the outer continental shelf off Louisiana.

McKay said Acting Comptroller General Frank H. Weitzel also ruled that the Bureau of Land Management must refund to Kerr-McGee $2,932,800 which the firm put up as a deposit for nine high bids it made in the oil and gas lease sale last Oct. 13. The bureau also must refund $420,000 of deposits Kerr-McGee deposited on three parcels on which it was not high bidder.

On the day after the lease sale, Kerr-McGee had advised the department it had made a "palpable mistake" in submitting its bids. The firm claimed it believed it was bidding on blocks instead of tracts in the Vermilion area in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana.

The "Kerr" in Kerr-McGee is Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.). Weitzel held that "it is a fundamental principle of law that the acceptance of a bid with knowledge of an error therein does not constitute a valid and binding contract."

He also held that evidence in support of the error was sufficient to establish that an error had, in fact, been made.

Merle Lichtenfels' Father Dies In Pa.

Merle Lichtenfels, engineer with the Columbia Carbon company and well known locally, received word of the death of his father, Fred Lichtenfels, 67, at the family home in Manor, Pa., early Thursday, after an illness of less than a week.

The funeral will be held in the Presbyterian Church in Manor Sunday afternoon.

He leaves his wife, his son and three daughters.

New Hampshire has 131 covered bridges. The 132nd was torn down in the spring of 1954 in Norwich because repairs would have cost about $13,000. The span over the Ompompanoosuc river had originally cost $3,987.87 more than a century ago.

Howell Refuses To Accept Defeat In New Jersey

TRENTON, N. J., (AP)—Democrat Charles R. Howell, refusing to concede to Republican Clifford P. Case, today seeks court orders throughout the state for a recount of the New Jersey senatorial election.

Terming the results of election "extremely close," a party spokesman declared the people of New Jersey are entitled to know who is their rightful representative.

Case was 3,469 votes ahead of Howell on the basis of official returns from 20 counties and unofficial returns from the 21st—Camden—where a canvass still is under way.

"The present margin of difference is less than one fifth of 1 percent of the total vote cast," said State Democratic Chairman George E. Brunner of Camden.

"An error of one vote" in each of the state's 3,998 election districts "would be enough to reverse the present trend of the count."

Case has announced victory in the election on the basis of returns so far, which showed he polled 861,627 to 858,158 for Howell.

English Justice Seeks To Reduce Size Of Juries

LONDON (AP)—Lord Goddard, the lord chief justice of England, suggests the size of juries be reduced from 12 to 7 in all court actions except murder trials. And he says verdicts should not be unanimous but by majority vote.

Lord Goddard says retrials have become more frequent recently because one "unreasonable or prejudiced juror" can cause a mistrial. Smaller juries sat in courts during the war and served without risk of real injustices, he contends.

The question of a majority vote by reduced juries also has been advanced by Sir Gerald Dodson, senior judge of Old Bailey, London's criminal court. He told a jury which could not reach a verdict because one of its members differed from the rest:

"Perhaps one day our legislature may see fit to decide that a majority verdict of say 10-12ths may be valid."

Many lawyers opposed the idea of majority verdicts in murder trials.

"British justice has been built up on the belief that an accused man is always entitled to the benefit of any doubt in the minds of his fellow men," said one.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Booklist On Marxism

Many citizens have contacted the Morning World from time to time in reference to books they could read concerning the International Marxist-Communist conspiracy. Thanks to the Departmental (Louisiana) Surgeon of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Dr. Isadore Gajan of New Iberia, a well compiled book list is available. From time to time, the Morning World will make additions to the book list printed below.

The list is divided into three parts going down the column. First will appear the name of the book, then the author and then the publishing house where it can be purchased.

Every American owes it to himself to read at least a few of the books published below in order to acquaint himself with the problem facing the nation today. It would also be a good idea to see that the Parish Library gets a few more of these books. Miss Frances Flanders does an excellent job there and perhaps this list will be of assistance.

Government Salaries

U. S. Civil Service Commission has recommended that Congress boost the salaries of its members from $15,000 to at least $20,000 a year. The commission has a motive in this act of apparent solicitude for members of the legislative branch of the government.

Philip Young, chairman of the CSC, says congressional salaries establish a ceiling in the federal service and, until they are boosted, the civil service has little chance of achieving a boost in the pay schedule.

Top pay in civil service is now $14,800 a year, and only 63 of the 2,300,000 classified employees draw that much. Only one of every 100 civil service employees makes $9,000 a year or more, and 45 per cent are paid less than $4,000 a year.

Principal argument for higher government salaries, in Congress and in the bureaus, is that the government is handicapped by low salaries in recruiting and retaining good career men. The type of employees sought, particularly in the upper grades where policy and direction are given in the bureaus, is not available because industry pays higher salaries.

A new drive for higher pay for government officials and employees will be launched when the new Congress meets. Congressmen are always reluctant to increase their own pay, however—which is why congressional salaries have not kept pace with the general price increase over the years—and probably would not concede that executive department employees, except of the highest rank, should be paid more than a member of Congress.

George Sokolsky
THESE DAYS
The Labor Party

No one has up to now been able to form a successful labor party in the United States. The Knights of Labor, organized in 1869, failed as a political force. Daniel De Leon attempted to organize politically; what became the Socialist Labor Party, his organ, has failed as a political party. What used to be called the Social Democratic Party, under Eugene Debs, Morris Hillquit and Victor Berger, developed into the Socialist Party, under Norman Thomas, but has never been politically equal to the quality of its leadership. The Non-Partisan League, the C.I.O.-P.A.C., the American Labor Party, the Liberal Party, the A.D.A. have never been able to elect a candidate to any office on their own. They have used the Democratic Party and at times the Republican Party, as transmission belts for the persons they favored. The American Labor Party became an instrument of the Communist Party and in the recent election passed from the scene.

The American Federation of Labor under the leadership of Samuel Gompers never joined a political party. Gompers was so opposed to socialism that he feared the consequences of the combination of labor unions and politics in the United States; besides Gompers managed to manipulate individuals of both parties in favor of his A.F. of L. which was a respected craft union under his leadership. It was not until recent years that the A.F. of L. became actively associated with the Democratic Party.

Should the American Federation of Labor and the C.I.O. be amalgamated, which is likely before the 1956 campaign, a labor party will be in the making. It will not be the intellectuals of the Americans for Democratic Action who will lead such a party; it will be the professional labor leaders, tough, experienced men who have tested their strength this year in several areas, particularly in Michigan, where they defeated Homer Ferguson by one of their own men, a figure unknown nationally and not even a local outstanding figure. It was a test of strength and the labor unions won.

The campaign in Michigan needs to be studied as a characteristic to be a transmission belt by organized labor. Homer Ferguson is a national figure who has played an important role in the United States Senate. He is intellectually above the general run of senators. His opponent, Patrick McNamara, was co-opted after Blair Moody, the Democratic favorite, died. The campaign was dull: Ferguson defended the Eisenhower administration, the 83rd Congress and his role in it. The Democrats ran a class-conscious campaign, with an unadulterated appeal to the labor vote by slogans as old as Eugene V. Debs and as new as Aneurin Bevan. The Republicans never attacked the slogans either by philosophy or fact.

To this must be added the factor of regional unemployment and the unbelievable political stupidity of the automobile manufacturers who, while anxious for Eisenhower to be supported, chose the election period for a technological lay-off, as though nothing happened in the world but the manufacture of automobiles.

The result was that Ferguson could not repeat Eisenhower's statistics that all is well when men were, at the moment, not working. An actual personal experience amounts to more than a mountain of statistics. The man who does not work knows that he does not work; he will not be convinced by statistics that show that there is no unemployment when he is unemployed.

The result: Ferguson was defeated and Walter Reuther moved to a higher rung in the leadership of the Democratic Party which he will either convert into a labor party or ditch for a newly organized labor party under his leadership before 1956. Reuther was, of course, aided by Charles E. Wilson's quip about dogs, an innocent and, in my opinion, laudable remark which was distorted into a campaign utility. But this factor can be exaggerated; what counted were the socialist slogans in a period of regional and technological unemployment, partly due to the political timing by the manufacturers who are not class-conscious.

Walter Reuther's success in Michigan will give impetus to other labor leaders to recognize the need for a labor party. In New York, David Dubinsky's Liberal Party did not do so well, but here again the Democratic candidate for governor, Averell Harriman, the Republican candidate, Irving Ives, and both candidates for attorney general were under labor influence. Our Children
By Angelo Patri

Superfluous Equipment
"My daughter has a new house. We, her Dad and I, promised to fit up one room for her in whatever way she chose, thinking of course of a bedroom or dining room, living room and the like. Imagine our surprise when she told us she wanted a bar. Yes, a bar, with stools and glasses and the whole setup of a bar-room."

"We said we wouldn't do it. She has three lovely children and we think they should not be brought up to think a bar room was part of the house furnishings. Our daughter is angry about it and says we broke our word and she wants nothing from us at all. We feel terrible about the whole thing. Are we right or is she right?"

My vote is with the opposition. As things are today there is enough drinking going on outside the house without bringing it into the life of the family, especially when there are children to be reared in that home. If older people feel they must drink they also must know that it is doing them no good. Why then teach the children to take the idea as casually as the home bar would make it seem?

Families of children are expensive under any condition. Their housing, medical care, education, food, clothing, recreation mount up as every father and mother know. A bar in the house means guests. Guests mean many drinks and every one counts in coin of the realm. A bar becomes a very costly bit of equipment without any tangible return. The money will be needed for the necessities of the household. There are no charge accounts in the liquor shops. It does not seem reasonable to spend money for liquor while asking for credit for food or clothing.

Fathers need clear heads these days. Business demands keen minds that are trigger-quick to meet competition. Drinking as a habit is just the way to take the edge off the mind, dull the head and weaken the hand. Why bother with it, especially in the house? Styles come and go. The Bar in the house is one style that is sure to go. Houses are smaller and smaller and families are growing bigger. Every room in the house will be needed and the first to make room will be the Bar. It really wasn't necessary.

Save the money. Make a better use of it. Buy books and music and bring in the friends who like them. They'll pay better in the long run than the Bar.

Poor health and temper tantrums are often caused by the wrong food. If your child is a food fussy, you will find valuable help in Dr. Patri's booklet No. 303, "Eating." IN WASHINGTON
Congressional Sidelights

For the first time within memory, there will be a severe strain between the presiding officers of the two houses of congress. Speaker - to - be Sam Rayburn bitterly resents the type of campaign made by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and the insinuations made by Nixon about the Democratic party being dominated by leftists and A. D. A.

Rayburn is ordinarily one of the most affable men you'd ever meet, but the 72-year-old Texan, coming up for his sixth term as speaker can be really tough. Bets are on him in any clash of wits with 41-year-old Nixon. A number of veteran Democrats who will hold important senate chairmanships feel the same way about Nixon. They have quietly agreed that he needs more education about how to handle opponents in a political campaign.

Reports from California are that Nixon may be ganged up on by the Republican K. K. K. - Senators Knowland and Governor Knight, all Republicans - to prevent him from being California's presidential candidate in the event President Eisenhower declines to run again.

Don't Fence Me Out - The chief of the mail division of the democratic national committee had a red face when a piece of mail addressed to "Governor Jim Folsom, Montgomery, Ala." was returned to Washington with a note scribbled across the wrapper.

It said, "Don't rush me boys, January 17, 1955 is the target date." The signature was that of Governor Gordon Persons, the outgoing governor. When he leaves office, the only Persons brother who will be in public life is Major General Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the president of the United States, who has never said whether he is a Republican or a Democrat.

Glad You Told Us - A New York public relations firm, appreciating that Washington reporters have not had much experience in describing a queen's jewels, has sent us a list of what Queen Mother Elizabeth brought along from England, though they couldn't say just when she will wear what.

The list includes four tiaras, including "an all diamond sunburst" which she will wear in Canada, not in the United States; four diamond studded bracelets, four sets of earrings, and four necklaces, including one of three strands of pearls. In addition, she has a "Lily Frame" brooch, presented to her in Rhodesia, a British territory. It is 3 1/3 inches long containing hundreds of small diamonds. "Persian feather" brooch, as further described, and a leaf, all diamonds, from the people of Canada.

George Did It, But Not Tom - Fame seems to be fleeing with an accelerated pace in 1954. Governor Thomas E. Dewey is still in the final weeks of his twelve years as governor of our most populous state. He was twice Republican candidate for president, for one campaign of which he should be remembered as perhaps the only living man who could have missed the White House under similarly auspicious conditions.

But on the radio election night in a mixing of names one announcer twice referred to him as Governor "George" Dewey. George Dewey was quite a fellow in his own right. He was connected with a victory instead of a defeat. Many people have not yet forgotten him. No one that ever saw him ever will.

When this reporter first came to Washington George Dewey was an admiral - an elegantly white moustached, military man with more port and main and suitable physical attributes and appurtenances needed by a hero than any other American figure save Robert E. Lee.

On the morning of May 1, 1898, Dewey was a commodore aboard his flagship Olympia in command of a nondescript collection of American fighting ships. He gave a quiet suggestion instead of a command.

"You may fire when ready, Gridley."

Gridley fired and before the merciless broadsides ceased every vessel in Admiral Montojo's fleet had been destroyed.

That was the story of the glorious naval victory at Manila Bay.

The Babe Had Company - Babs Didrickson Zaharias, foremost female golfer who walked off a Fort Worth golf course during a tournament to fly to Washington to attend a Citizens for Eisenhower rally found that many of the president's other friends were there. Among them were the veterans of

The 'New' Senators

Ohio - Rep. George Harrison Bender (R), 58, businessman and publisher of Chagrin Falls, campaigning on a platform of "100 per cent support" for the Eisenhower Administration, won the seat of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R), which had been held by appointment for the past year and a half by Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D) 56, of Cleveland. Bender defeated Burke for election in a race in which Bender defended the Administration's economic, labor and farm policies, which were challenged by Burke. Bender has been in Ohio politics for 35 years, served in the Ohio legislature for 10 years and for six terms as Congressman at large. In 1952, after the state was redistricted, Bender was elected to represent a suburban Cleveland district. He has been chairman of the Cuyahoga County Republican Central Committee since 1936. Bender served as the cheer leader for Taft's drive for the GOP Presidential nomination in the past four Republican national conventions. But he swung into President Eisenhower's column in the 83rd Congress, although this meant an about-face in his opposition to foreign aid and public housing. Bender regards the President as "the greatest asset" to the Republican party since Lincoln. He actively supported the Administration 76 per cent of the time during the past two years, opposed it only 10 per cent. He will give the President more support on domestic issues than Burke did, and about as much on foreign policy.

South Carolina - Ex-Gov. James Strom Thurmond (D), 51, Alken attorney, won his Senate seat the hard way - by "write-in" votes, the first successful "write-in" attempt in modern times. While governor of South Carolina, Thurmond ran as States Rights candidate for the Presidency in 1948. He was an unsuccessful Senate candidate in 1950. In 1952 he teamed with Gov. James F. Byrnes (D) to support Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Presidency, and Byrnes supported Thurmond in his "write-in" drive. After Thurmond got into the race after the Democratic state executive committee, acting under a state law passed during Thurmond's governorship, by-passed a special primary and named State Sen. Edgar A. Brown (D) to the six-year Senate term for which Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D) was nominated, prior to his death on Sept. 1. Thurmond's issue: "whether 31 men shall choose the United States Senator, or whether the people shall choose him." Thurmond has promised to serve only two years, and to stand for re-election in 1956 under regular primary procedure. He is likely to oppose the Administration on many foreign and domestic issues, as Maybank did particularly on farm price supports and foreign aid.

Wyoming - Ex-Sen. Joseph Christopher O'Mahoney (D), 70, Cheyenne attorney, resumes his 19-year-old Senate career which began on Dec. 18, 1933, and ended temporarily when he fell beneath the Eisenhower landslide in 1952. O'Mahoney supported most of the policies of the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations while he was in the Senate, where he served as chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, the Joint Committee on the Economic Report and the Subcommittee on Armed Services of the Appropriations Committee. O'Mahoney is likely to support the President on some, but not all foreign policy votes - he has been critical of reciprocal trade, but he is likely to part company with the Administration on farm, power and tax issues, and possibly defense issues as well. O'Mahoney is particularly interested in the development of his state's water, and shale oil resources. He takes over the seat of his close friend and colleague, the late Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D), who killed himself on June 19. Hunt gave the Administration moderate support.

the 82nd airborne division, one of Ike's favorites then meeting in convention here.

Since the program was impromptu, the president asked that the vets stand and identify themselves, also tell what they are now doing. The one to whom the president gave the biggest hand said: "Mr. President, I am now running a saloon - I mean a tavern - in Chicago."

Booklist On Marxism

Many citizens have contacted the Morning World from time to time in reference to books they could read concerning the International Marxist-Communist conspiracy. Thanks to the Departmental (Louisiana) Surgeon of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Dr. Isadore Gajan of New Iberia, a well compiled book list is available. From time to time, the Morning World will make additions to the book list printed below.

The list is divided into three parts going down the column. First will appear the name of the book, then the author and then the publishing house where it can be purchased.

Every American owes it to himself to read at least a few of the books published below in order to acquaint himself with the problem facing the nation today. It would also be a good idea to see that the Parish Library gets a few more of these books. Miss Frances Flanders does an excellent job there and perhaps this list will be of assistance.

Government Salaries

U. S. Civil Service Commission has recommended that Congress boost the salaries of its members from $15,000 to at least $20,000 a year. The commission has a motive in this act of apparent solicitude for members of the legislative branch of the government.

Philip Young, chairman of the CSC, says congressional salaries establish a ceiling in the federal service and, until they are boosted, the civil service has little chance of achieving a boost in the pay schedule.

Top pay in civil service is now $14,800 a year, and only 63 of the 2,300,000 classified employees draw that much. Only one of every 100 civil service employees makes $9,000 a year or more, and 45 per cent are paid less than $4,000 a year.

Principal argument for higher government salaries, in Congress and in the bureaus, is that the government is handicapped by low salaries in recruiting and retaining good career men. The type of employees sought, particularly in the upper grades where policy and direction are given in the bureaus, is not available because industry pays higher salaries.

A new drive for higher pay for government officials and employees will be launched when the new Congress meets. Congressmen are always reluctant to increase their own pay, however—which is why congressional salaries have not kept pace with the general price increase over the years—and probably would not concede that executive department employees, except of the highest rank, should be paid more than a member of Congress.

THESE DAYS

The Labor Party

No one has up to now been able to form a successful labor party in the United States. The Knights of Labor, organized in 1869, failed as a political force. Daniel De Leon attempted to organize politically; what became the Socialist Labor Party, his organ, has failed as a political party. What used to be called the Social Democratic Party, under Eugene Debs, Morris Hillquit and Victor Berger, developed into the Socialist Party, under Norman Thomas, but has never been politically equal to the quality of its leadership. The Non-Partisan League, the C.I.O.-P.A.C., the American Labor Party, the Liberal Party, the A.D.A. have never been able to elect a candidate to any office on their own. They have used the Democratic Party and at times the Republican Party, as transmission belts for the persons they favored. The American Labor Party became an instrument of the Communist Party and in the recent election passed from the scene.

The American Federation of Labor under the leadership of Samuel Gompers never joined a political party. Gompers was so opposed to socialism that he feared the consequences of the combination of labor unions and politics in the United States; besides, Gompers managed to manipulate individuals of both parties in favor of his A.F. of L. which was a respected craft union under his leadership. It was not until recent years that the A.F. of L. became actively associated with the Democratic Party.

Should the American Federation of Labor and the C.I.O. be amalgamated, which is likely before the 1956 campaign, a labor party will be in the making. It will not be the intellectuals of the Americans for Democratic Action who will lead such a party; it will be the professional labor leaders, tough, experienced men who have tested their strength this year in several areas, particularly in Michigan, where they defeated Homer Ferguson by one of their own men, a figure unknown nationally and not even a local outstanding figure. It was a test of strength and the labor unions won.

The campaign in Michigan needs to be studied as a characteristic employment of the Democratic Party as a transmission belt by organized labor. Homer Ferguson is a national figure who has played an important role in the United States Senate. He is intellectually above the general run of senators. His opponent, Patrick McNamara, was co-opted after Blair Moody, the Democratic favorite, died. The campaign was dull; Ferguson defended the Eisenhower administration, the 83rd Congress ran a class-conscious campaign, with an unadulterated appeal to the labor vote by slogans as old as Eugene V. Debs and as new as Aneurin Bevan. The Republicans never attacked the slogans either by philosophy or fact.

To this must be added the factor of regional unemployment and the unbelievable political stupidity of the automobile manufacturers who, while anxious for Eisenhower to be supported, chose the election period for a technological lay-off, as though nothing happened in the world but the manufacture of automobiles.

The result was that Ferguson could not repeat Eisenhower's statistics that all is well when men were, at the moment, not working. An actual personal experience amounts to more than a mountain of statistics. The man who does not work knows that he does not work; he will not be convinced by statistics that show that there is no unemployment when he is unemployed.

The result: Ferguson was defeated and Walter Reuther moves to a higher rung in the leadership of the Democratic Party which he will either convert into a labor party or ditch for a newly organized labor party under his leadership before 1956. Reuther was, of course, aided by Charles E. Wilson's quip about dogs, an innocent and, in my opinion, laudable remark which was distorted into a campaign utility. But this factor can be exaggerated; what counted were the socialist slogans in a period of regional and technological unemployment, partly due to unemployment timing by the manufacturers who are not class-conscious.

Walter Reuther's success in Michigan will give impetus to other labor leaders to recognize the need for a labor party. In New York, David Dubinsky's Liberal Party did not do so well, but here again the Democratic candidate for governor, Averell Harriman, the Republican candidate, Irving Ives, and both candidates for attorney general were under labor influence.

Marilyn Monroe
Leaves Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12—UP—
 Film star Marilyn Monroe sneaked out of Cedars of Lebanon hospital Friday after having undergone minor surgery earlier in the week to correct a feminine disorder.

The actress, garbed in a mink coat, sought to dodge photographers as she left the hospital through a basement entrance in the company of a nurse. Miss Mon-roe's ex-husband, former Yankee star Joe DiMaggio, was not on hand to see her leave. He had been a daily visitor since she entered the hospital last Sunday night.

Miss Monroe's doctor said that the actress waited until she finished a movie to undergo the surgery for an ailment that had been bothering her for several years.
 He declared the operation was a routine one.

Tech School
Has 762 Students

RUSTON, Nov. 12 (Special)— Louisiana Tech's school of engineering this fall has an enrollment of 762 students, the second largest registration in the history of the college, Dean Ben T. Bogard has announced.

The record engineering enrollment at Tech was set in the fall of 1947, when the enrollment in that school was 798 students, with most of the enrollees being World War II veterans, the dean pointed out.

The present number of 762 engineering students at the college is a 54 per cent increase over that of the engineering school two years ago.

Tech's large engineering enrollment this year, Dean Bogard said,

Students Speak
To Rotary Club

Functioning of Pelican Girls' and Boys' State was explained Thursday at the Rotary Club's weekly meeting by two local students who were sponsored by the club at last summer's session in Baton Rouge.
 Frances Guthrie of Neville High School, and Grove Fields of Ouachita Parish High, described their experiences in the project designed to teach young people the machinery of government and the responsibilities of American citizens.

The program was further explained by Mrs. H. Flood Madison, Jr., associate finance officer of Girls' State. Selection of boys and girls for the annual sessions of Pelican State, Mrs. Madison explained, is determined by honesty, courage, leadership, patriotic and civic attitudes and scholarship.

Cost of Pelican State is defrayed by the state American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, local posts, Louisiana State University, and service clubs who sponsor certain girls and boys to represent cities and towns. Participation in Girls' State is one of the finest things, which is done by the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Madison said.

The Pelican State program combines work and responsibility with recreation. Miss Guthrie and Fields emphasized the value of the experiences which called for initiative and self support. Representatives are required to work harder as they are without the aid of parents or older brothers or sisters at the convocation.

All phases of government machinery are considered in the project. Voting, campaigning, holding caucuses, and preparation of bills for the house and senate are matters of grave importance to students who take part in the state program, the luncheon speakers declared.

Adding to the significance of their work was the introduction of bills on problems which were considered of paramount interest to Louisiana. These subjects included the right to work, legalized gambling, stock laws and others.

Ellis Island, Famed As Immigration Center, To Be Closed; No Business

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Ellis Island, through whose portals some 20 million immigrants passed in 62 years, was closed today.

The last alien housed on the historic little isle in New York harbor came off at 10:15 a. m. and a few hours later the last load of furniture needed immediately by the Immigration Service also was ferried ashore.

The district immigration director, Edward J. Shaughnessy, announced:

"Business is closed."

An "outside" date of Nov. 19 had been set for closing.

All immigration activities have been consolidated at the district headquarters in mid-Manhattan occupied by the service a decade ago.

Ellis Island, once a picnic ground, then an arsenal, later a fort and finally the nation's business immigration station, fell victim to lack of business.

In its peak years in the early part of the century it channeled as many as 5,000 newcomers a day into the new world. To speed the tidal waves of humanity into the far corners of the country, there were as many as 20 railroad ticket agents on duty in the processing center.

There was only one, Benjamin
 Sprung, 62, there at the closing.
 He had served on the Island for 47 years.

It has been 30 years since immigrants were removed from their ocean steamers en masse and sent through the Island. In recent years there have been extensive examinations abroad before issuing visas and checks on shipboard in the harbor.

The Island's population was reduced mainly to deportees and persons temporarily detained while seeking admission to the United States. The first of 50 persons held there was moved off last week.

Many of those detained will be eligible for parole under a new policy. Those the Immigration Service wishes to keep under guard will be held at the federal house of detention in Manhattan.

Ferriday Lumber
Plant Fire Loss
Set At $200,000

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 12—An early morning fire of undetermined origin which swept through buildings of the Ferriday Hardwood Company on the Ferriday-Vidalia Highway early this morning, is estimated to have done more than $200,000 in damages.

An estimate of the actual damage was unavailable today, but Perry H. Corbett, manager, said the total loss would run over two hundred thousand dollars.

The alarm was turned in at about 2 a. m., but according to Ferriday Fire Chief Nolan Moulle, the fire was raging out of control before equipment got to the scene of the blaze. The roof of one of the main buildings was caving in as the fire equipment arrived at the scene.

The fire, although of undetermined origin, is believed to have started in the mill portion of the company. A watchman, making his rounds at 1 a. m. reported everything all right, Moulle said.

Several buildings of tin structure were destroyed. Included in the loss were valuable machinery, and other mill equipment besides a large quantity of lumber. The mill is located just east of Ferriday on 61 Highway.

Corbett said the loss which was practically total, was partially covered by insurance. The lumber company, one of the oldest in Louisiana, was at one time known as the Fisher Lumber Corporation. At that time it furnished lumber for the making of Fisher automobile bodies, used by Chevrolet and other General Motors Car Manufacturers, and it was later known as the Angelina Lumber Company.

Texas Collision
Indirectly Solves
Crowley Crime

HOUSTON (AP)—A truck-automobile collision on the Houston-Beaumont highway indirectly has solved a Crowley, La., burglary.

Sheriff's Deputies N. O. Morris-son and Harry Johnson said yesterday they found this loot in the automobile: $45 in small change, 48 dresses, 27 blouses, 18 boxes of women's hose and an assortment of gloves, dress coats, suits, trousers, cowboy boots, shoes and costume jewelry.

Deputy Jack Middleton talked with Crowley officers and said the articles matched those taken from a clothing store there Wednesday night.

Crowley police said they were filing charges against the driver of the automobile, Glynn Wall Holliday, 38, former Houston convict.
 Middleton said the Crowley officers will bring the warrant to Houston to begin extradition proceedings.

Holiday is in City-County Hospital with a broken rib.

Harri Wilbur Johnson, 43, Houston machinist and driver of the truck, was hospitalized with a sprained neck.

Covenant Church Formal Charter Men's Club Gets

Sidney Crump, of Shreveport, president of the Presbyterian council of the Red River Presbytery, officiated in the presentation of the Men's Club charter for Covenant Presbyterian church at the Rendezvous, Thursday night when an elaborate turkey dinner was served. The meeting was opened by S. W. McLean, president of the Covenant Men's club, who also formally accepted the charter.

Mr. Crump stressed, in his address, the duties and service of men's clubs in the church, and congratulated the church here that they had such a fine group of active men enrolled.

The charter was formally accepted by President McLean who expressed the desire that the Men's club live up to all that is expected of the organization. The charter was granted the club by the Division of Men's work of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, with headquarters in Richmond, Va.

John Richardson, of Shreveport, past president of the Presbyterian council and Synod council, introduced to the assemblage, gave a fine report and discussion of the Presbyterian Men's convention which was held in October in New Orleans.

Officers of the local club, introduced at the opening of the meeting are, besides the president, Mr. McLean, Charles Ferguson, vice-president; E. A. Porter, Jr., secretary; and Dr. H. H. Baur, treasurer.

Guests introduced comprised representation from the Presbyterian churches in Monroe and West Monroe and were Rev. Wayne Gray, Covenant church; Rev. Wade McFadden, First Presbyterian church; and John Williams, ruling elder, Memorial Presbyterian church, West Monroe; M. L. Hargus, president of the Memorial church Men's club; and D. L. Slay, president of the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church.

A nominating committee was named and instructed to bring the ballot of new officers for the year 1955 to the December 10 meeting of the Men's Club. They are: E. F. Jones, chairman; X. Holt, C. K. Moore, Victor N. Davis, and O. O. Cumminz.

Grace was given at the opening of the meeting by Rev. Wayne Gray, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Wade H. McFadden.

The American Memorial Library in Berlin will house 600,000 books and contain many new features, including open stacks where readers from both East and West Germany may help themselves at will.

Ruston Boy Hit By Taxi; Injury Believed Minor

RUSTON, La., Nov. 12 (Special)—Sammie Joe Holloway, 5, son of Mrs. Ruby Holloway, route two, Ruston, was struck by a Negro taxicab shortly after noon Friday, according to Traffic Officer George Simonton. He was not believed seriously injured.

Officer Simonton said the boy was struck as he attempted to cross North Trenton street. The taxi driver was not held. Police said the boy was crossing in the middle of the street and the taxi was traveling at a slow rate of speed.

The boy was taken to a Ruston clinic by a passing motorist. His condition was not immediately determined but he was believed to have suffered only minor injuries.

Fewer Sheep And Lambs Ready For Early Slaughter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—UP—The Agriculture Department reported Friday that "somewhat" fewer sheep and lambs than a year ago are expected to be put on feed this fall for winter and spring marketing.

One of the factors encouraging fewer marketings of animals for meat sales is the prospective increase in 1955 wool returns under the new wool support program. Ranchers will tend to build up their herds for wool production.

Friday's report said that while increases in feeding operations are expected in "a few states"—chiefly in the west—they will be "more than offset" by declines elsewhere.

It said shipments of feeder lambs into the nine cornbelt states during July-October, for example, were down 12 per cent from a year ago. The drop took place despite a 4 per cent increase in the 1954 lamb crop in 11 western states, South Dakota and Texas.

Attorney Asks State Welfare Board To Revise Attitude Toward 'Common Law' Marriages Affecting Payments

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Attorney A. Leon Hebert today asked the Louisiana Board of Public Welfare to revise its attitude toward "concubines, non-legal wives and common law marriages."

He cited the case of a blind Negro who was denied welfare assistance because his common-law mate had sufficient earnings to support him.

"A common law wife, a concubine, has no legal obligations," Hebert said. "A person doing the supporting in a case like this cannot inherit from the supported."

The Baton Rouge attorney contended the board was without legal authority to deny assistance when one member of an "illicit union" is incapable of support without the help of the other.

"Your policy is not well established in law," he told the board. "An appeal should be made to the Legislature to change the law so only leprosinarium in the country."

The state now grants some welfare assistance to patients who lived in Louisiana prior to entering Carville.

Hebert contended that a constitution all know where we are going or else payments should be made.

The board, warning that a change in the policy would have "tremendous consequences," promised nevertheless to take it under advisement.

"I'm sympathetic with the blind," said member Barton Freeland of Crowley, "but this would set off a tremendous chain reaction in all other welfare categories. There's no telling what it would cost us."

Under Louisiana's Napoleonic code of communal property, the assets of a wife or husband are considered fully when granting welfare aid to either. Hebert's suggested policy change would exempt from consideration the resources of a common-law mate.

The attorney also asked the board to revise its policy toward

Condemned Slayer Fails To Identify Old Accomplice

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 12 (AP)—Condemned slayer Minor Sorber backed down today when brought face-to-face with the man he said helped him kill a rich Greek in Dayton, Ohio, five years ago.

The paunchy, 35-year-old Sorber bowed his head and said, "No," when Dayton detectives brought William Cutshaw to the Hinds county jail and asked Sorber: "Is this the man who drove the car?"

Jackson police said Sorber told them Cutshaw drove the car used by Sorber when he killed wealthy George Zvakos.

Sorber battered his way out of the Hinds County jail in September with Gerald Gallego, also facing death for murder. The two killed Jailer J. C. Landrum in their break and were captured four days later after Mississippi's greatest manhunt.

After their capture, both signed full confessions and Sorber volunteered a story of how he killed Zvakos for pay.

Sorber told reporters then he did not know the driver of the car. He said the man was sent by underworld figures who were paying for Zvakos' death to see that Sorber carried out the job.

Cutshaw was arrested in Douglas, Ga., and was wanted in Dayton on a charge of safe burglary. Dayton detectives K. M. Williams and R. H. Hogan picked up Cutshaw and brought him to Jackson on their way back to Ohio.

Bur Sorber backed down when Cutshaw was brought into the jail hallway to face Sorber.

The detectives quickly whisked Cutshaw away for the trip to Ohio. Sorber faces a death sentence for helping kill a fellow convict at Mississippi's penitentiary farm. His conviction is now before the state Supreme Court on appeal.

Inmates of the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital at Carville, the tutional amendment granting Carville patients a polling booth and voting privileges made them "residents in every sense of the word and entitled to welfare."

The board promised to take this under advisement, too.

Burns Prove Fatal To Oak Ridge Negro

OAK RIDGE, Nov. 12 (Special)—An 82-year-old Negro, "Uncle" Jimmy Givens, was burned to death around 2 p.m. Friday while attempting to put out a grass fire at his home two miles south of Oak Ridge. He was a life-long resident of the area.

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued by city building inspector S. H. Awt:

Mrs. Maud Clay, to erect a one-story frame storage building at 2805 Chaucer at a cost of $100.

Beatrice Hollis, to erect a one-story brick veneer residence at 502 Sterling road at a cost of $8,500.

Harold D. Lenard, to add to a one-story frame residence at 4100 Lee Court at a cost of $375.

Lester Carr, to remodel a one-story stucco office building at 1611 Jackson at a cost of $500.

Records of more than 20,000,000 former members of the military service are on file at Army's record center at St. Louis, Mo.

Heroic 'Boiler Kid' Who Lived In Iron Lung 18 Years, Dies In Sleep

PALM BEACH, Fla., Nov. 12.—UP—Frederick B. Snite Jr., the "boiler kid" whose 18 years in an iron lung showed countless others how to live cheerfully with a crippling illness, died in his sleep Friday.

Stricken in China in 1936, Snite became the first publicized patient to use the tank-like artificial respirator. He was told then he could never leave it but he refused to bow to his fate.

Snite took a wife, fathered three daughters and became an avid football fan and bridge player, all while having to spend at least 21 hours a day in his "boiler," as he called it.

The 44-year-old Snite died while taking a nap at the annual Florida state bridge tournament. He had been in weakening health recently due to the long inactivity of his muscles and an attack of stomach ulcers.

But only a few months ago Snite, always a willing speaker at polio drives, loaned his specially equipped bus and personal driver to a 18-year-old polio victim. The boy was rushed in Snite's bus from Deland to Miami so he could be treated for bulbar polio, the same type that felled Snite.

A spokesman at the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis office in Atlanta said that if Snite had lived two years longer he would have made medical history. No bulbar polio patient has ever survived 20 years, the spokesman said.

It was due to the wealth of his father, Chicago financier Frederick B. Snite Sr., that the pioneer iron lung could be obtained and shipped to China in 1936 after the 25-year-old patient was stricken in Peking. The device was barely out of the experimental stage then.

Actually, it was the sixth iron lung ever manufactured. The device was first developed in 1928 by Philip Drinker and Louis A. Shaw at the Harvard school of public health in Boston.

Snite called his early lung the "model" because of its clanking sound. As fast as science developed them, Snite had his iron lungs replaced or modernized.

Covenant Church Formal Charter Men's Club Gets

Sidney Crump, of Shreveport, president of the Presbyterian council of the Red River Presbytery, officiated in the presentation of the Men's Club charter for Covenant Presbyterian church at the Rendezvous, Thursday night when an elaborate turkey dinner was served. The meeting was opened by S. W. McLean, president of the Covenant Men's club, who also formally accepted the charter.

Mr. Crump stressed, in his address, the duties and service of men's clubs in the church, and congratulated the church here that they had such a fine group of active men enrolled.

The charter was formally accepted by President McLean who expressed the desire that the Men's club live up to all that is expected of the organization. The charter was granted the club by the Division of Men's work of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, with headquarters in Richmond, Va.

John Richardson, of Shreveport, past president of the Presbyterian council and Synod council, introduced to the assemblage, gave a fine report and discussion of the Presbyterian Men's convention which was held in October in New Orleans.

Officers of the local club, introduced at the opening of the meeting, are, besides the president, Mr. McLean, Charles Ferguson, vice-president; E. A. Porter, Jr., secretary; and Dr. H. H. Baur, treasurer.

Guests introduced comprised representation from the three Presbyterian churches in Monroe and West Monroe and were Rev. Wayne Gray, Covenant church; Rev. Wade McFadden, First Presbyterian; and John Williams, ruling elder, Memorial Presbyterian church, West Monroe; M. L. Hargus, president of the Memorial church Men's club; and D. L. Slay, president of the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church.

A nominating committee was named and instructed to bring the ballot of new officers for the year 1955 to the December 10 meeting of the Men's Club. They are: E. F. Jones, chairman; X. Holt, C. K. Moore, Victor N. Davis, and O. O. Cummings.

Grace was given at the opening of the meeting by Rev. Wayne Gray, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Wade H. McFadden.

The American Memorial Library in Berlin will house 600,000 books and contain many new features, including open stacks where readers from both East and West Germany may help themselves at will.

Ruston Boy Hit By Taxi; Injury Believed Minor

RUSTON, La., Nov. 12 (Special)—Sammie Joe Holloway, 5, son of Mrs. Ruby Holloway, route two, Ruston, was struck by a Negro taxicab shortly after noon Friday, according to Traffic Officer George Simonton. He was not believed seriously injured.

Officer Simonton said the boy was struck as he attempted to cross North Trenton street. The taxi driver was not held. Police said the boy was crossing in the middle of the street and the taxi was traveling at a slow rate of speed.

The boy was taken to a Ruston clinic by a passing motorist. His condition was not immediately determined but he was believed to have suffered only minor injuries.

Fewer Sheep And Lambs Ready For Early Slaughter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—UP—The Agriculture Department reported Friday that "somewhat" fewer sheep and lambs than a year ago are expected to be put on feed this fall for winter and spring marketing.

One of the factors encouraging fewer marketings of animals for meat sales is the prospective increase in 1955 wool returns under the new wool support program. Ranchers will tend to build up their herds for wool production.

Friday's report said that while increases in feeding operations are expected in "a few states"—chiefly in the west—they will be "more than offset" by declines elsewhere.

It said shipments of feeder lambs into the nine cornbelt states during July-October, for example, were down 12 per cent from a year ago. The drop took place despite a 4 per cent increase in the 1954 lamb crop in 11 western states, South Dakota and Texas.

Attorney Asks State Welfare Board To Revise Attitude Toward 'Common Law' Marriages Affecting Payments

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Attorney A. Leon Hebert today asked the Louisiana Board of Public Welfare to revise its attitude toward "concubines, non-legal wives and common law marriages."

Three Democrats Might Succeed In Killing Tax Repeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee say they won't support a promised move to repeal the controversial tax cut on dividends enacted by the last Congress.

With Republican help, that could kill the repeal effort.

Two other committee Democrats were noncommittal, while 4 of the 10 holdover Democrats polled on the issue said they would support repeal.

One committee member did not reply.

The dividend tax cut, strongly backed by the Eisenhower administration, was written into the 1954 tax revision act over strong opposition from many Democrats, some of whom made an issue of it in the election campaign.

It exempts from income taxes the first $50 in dividends received by shareholders each year. And stockholders are permitted to deduct 5 per cent of their remaining dividends directly from the tax bill they otherwise would pay.

This amounts to an estimated revenue reduction of about $62 million dollars a year.

Republicans argued that corporate profits are taxed twice—first under regular corporation income taxes and again under individual income levies as profits are passed out to stockholders in dividends. They said the tax cut would be a spur to business investment and help long-range economic growth. Many Democrats attacked the move as special relief for the wealthy.

With three Democrats on the key tax committee against repeal, the proposal probably will have rough sledding.

In the new Congress, the party lineup on the committee will be 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans. All the Republicans have supported the dividend tax cut in the past. So even if all five Democratic newcomers and all those who took no stand in the poll lined up for repeal, they could still fall one short of a committee majority.

Rep. Dingell, (D-Mich.), second-ranking Democrat on Ways and Means, already has announced he will introduce a bill to cut individual income taxes and repeal the tax cut on dividends.

Three Democrats Might Succeed In Killing Tax Repeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee say they won't support a promised move to repeal the controversial tax cut on dividends enacted by the last Congress.

With Republican help, that could kill the repeal effort.

Two other committee Democrats were noncommittal, while 4 of the 10 holdover Democrats polled on the issue said they would support repeal.

One committee member did not reply.

The dividend tax cut, strongly backed by the Eisenhower administration, was written into the 1954 tax revision act over strong opposition from many Democrats, some of whom made an issue of it in the election campaign.

It exempts from income taxes the first $50 in dividends received by shareholders each year. And stockholders are permitted to deduct 5 per cent of their remaining dividends directly from the tax bill they otherwise would pay.

This amounts to an estimated revenue reduction of about $62 million dollars a year.

Republicans argued that corporation profits are taxed twice—first under regular corporation income taxes and again under individual income levies as profits are passed out to stockholders in dividends. They said the tax cut would be a spur to business investment and help long-range economic growth. Many Democrats attacked the move as special relief for the wealthy.

With three Democrats on the key tax committee against repeal, the proposal probably will have rough sledding.

In the new Congress, the party lineup on the committee will be 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans. All the Republicans have supported the dividend tax cut in the past. So even if all five Democratic newcomers and all those who took no stand in the poll lined up for repeal, they could still fall one short of a committee majority.

Rep. Dingell, (D-Mich.), second-ranking Democrat on Ways and Means, already has announced he will introduce a bill to cut individual income taxes and repeal the tax cut on dividends.

Miss Marie Minard Gives Program At Fine Arts Club

Miss Marie Minard was program chairman for the November meeting of the Fine Arts Club in the home of Mrs. J. Norman Coon.

Short forms, an outgrowth of folk art, was discussed by Miss Minard. She pointed out how many classical forms had been originated from folk music. She also spoke of structure as being a coherent organization of material.

She explained that in the so-called formal mold, the composer begins with a generalized, well-known form and to this adds his own unique organization. In other words, she asserted, he remembers form, but in a particular or personal way.

The basic principal of music is repetition, in music to a larger extent than any of the other arts, stated Mrs. Minard. On the other hand, she pointed out, that the principal of non-repetition or contrast is on a large scale.

Miss Minard spoke of the A-B-A type of construction used in small works such as folk songs, a chorus or on the larger scale, a full symphony or sonata form.

The speaker was assisted by Mr. John Cale who illustrated these ideas on the piano.

For the musical portion of the program, Mrs. Mina Newman sang two arias from Kurt Weill's folk opera, "Down in the Valley." She was accompanied by Mrs. Everett Lawson. Mr. Cale played "Sonatina" by Diabelli and Mr. Winfred Mask played the "Rondo" from the "Waldstein Sonata" of Beethoven.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mr. Wilbur Bullock, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mr. John Cale, Mrs. C. C. Carroll, Mrs. H. Douglas, Miss Ladelle Duke, Mrs. Barlow Inabnet, Miss Letta Mae King, Mrs. Max H. Kuleche, Mrs. Gladys Collins, Mrs. Everett Lawson, Dr. Harry Lemert, Mr. Winfred Mask, Miss Marie Minard, Miss Louise Moore, Mrs. Paul Newman, Miss Clifflie Olmstead.

Camp Films To Be Shown By Girl Scouts

Families and friends of the Girl Scouts who attended Camp Wawbansee last summer, as well as any other interested persons, are invited to see the camp film Saturday afternoon, November 13, at the United Gas Company's building on Louisville at 2:00 o'clock.

The film was made by Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Strauss on the in-between Sunday of the two-week camp. For the most part it consists of activities just as they happened on that particular time, though a few activities were demonstrated especially for the film. Campers will be especially interested in seeing themselves and their camper friends.

Baxter Bayou HDC Meets With Mrs. F. Johnson

LAKE PROVIDENCE—Mrs. Felton Johnson was hostess for the November meeting of the Baxter Bayou HDC Club. Miss Eunyce Howard, parish home agent, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. F. Bonner.

Mrs. W. B. Ragland, Sr., offered the club prayer and led the club collect.

Pies were the club's contribution to the Achievement Day luncheon, at which Mrs. W. B. Ragland, Jr., will be in charge of the music.

For the day's program Mrs. J. E. Peeler told of "Handling the Emotion of Joy," the hostess itemized the nutritive values of cereals. Mrs. H. T. Van Fossen advised on "How To Make A Will."

Miss Howard gave the recent changes in landscaping with charts, listing needs, site study and selection of plant materials.

Mrs. R. K. Howard will be the December club hostess with an exchange of gifts planned.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

This chin exercise calls for exaggerated chewing from this position—you'll feel a strong pull on the neck muscles.

Flabby Facial Contour May Cause Double Chin

As folks grow older their tissues lose tone. This is always true to a certain extent. However, regular daily exercise can slow up this process tremendously and even delay it for years.

Few people take exercise regularly until they discover some defect in health or figure. Of course the remedy is more difficult than prevention would have been, but much improvement can be made.

This loss of tone is partly responsible for drooping facial contour, flabby legs and an unattractive chinline. Other factors enter into the picture but exercise plays a big part.

Husband Has Double Chin
Recently I have had many letters asking about the double chin and aging chin muscles. One woman even wrote in about her husband. She says that he is not overweight at all for his height but that he does have a big double chin which seems to be getting larger all of the time.

Since he is not overweight we rule this factor out. However, if you have a double chin and are overweight the chances are that a loss will also reduce the chin. As I have often written, posture plays a big part. Often the unattractive chinline is due to poor posture. Check yourself about this.

The following exercise has reduced the double chins of many women in my classes. Sit or stand. Lower your head backward. Open and close your mouth, chewing in an exaggerated manner and keeping your head back. Lift head and rest. Repeat several times.

Swing Chin

Another: Stand tall. Lower your head backwards until you feel the pull under the chin. Raise head and swing chin from side to side. Lower again and raise and swing. If you would like to have my exercises for your chinline send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10 "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Rhonda Fleming Is Latest Victim Of 'Roman Jinx'

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—That Roman jinx on Hollywood marriages struck again today. The latest victim: Rhonda Fleming.

The shapely redhead announced she will leave for Switzerland in about 10 days to divorce Dr. Lew Morrill, whom she married in Kanab, Utah, July 11, 1952. She had quietly established Swiss residence six months ago.

"There are no other personalities involved. It's simply incompatibility," explained Miss Fleming, who is here playing the film part of a Babylonian courtesan in a whistle-blowing costume of pearl-studded bra and briefs, two bracelets and a smile. She had been seen frequently with Prince Aly Khan during his Italian visit last month.

Miss Fleming filed a divorce complaint in Hollywood last April, but the couple effected a reconciliation when Dr. Morrill slipped and broke his leg while visiting her. He said today he will not contest the new divorce action.

"Rome's done it again," was the comment about this Hollywood-on-the-Tiber. Since Italy became a postwar international film producing center this is the fifth marriage involving Hollywood stars to blow up under the sultry Italian sun.

In 1949 Ingrid Bergman came to Italy to make "Stromboli" under the direction of Roberto Rossellini. Husband Peter Lindstrom stayed home. Today, after one of the most publicized romances of a decade, Mrs. Lindstrom is Mrs. Roberto Rossellini and hasn't even been back to Hollywood.

Robert Taylor came to town to film "Quo Vadis" in 1950, the husband of Barbara Stanwyck in a "model" marriage. He was much photographed with Italian starlet Li de Leo—and divorce followed. Taylor is now married to Ursula Thelma, the German actress.

It was the Christmas season a year ago when Frank Sinatra flew to Rome to beg for a reconciliation with Ava Gardner, here making a movie days, and being escorted nightly by Spanish bullfighter Luis Dominguez. Result: No reconciliation and divorce.

Then Shelly Winters flew in to visit husband Vittorio Gassman. A few days later Miss Winters angrily summoned the press to announce her marriage was ended—and to express the belief Gassman would marry his frequent companion, Anna Maria Ferrero, youthful Italian starlet.

Gassman didn't but he and Miss Ferrero still are inseparable.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been married 17 years and have three lovely children. Our life together has been happy, with few quarrels except those due to my one weakness—other women.

From time to time I have been tangled with another woman in an affair that would last a few months. Then I'd straighten out, vow never to stray again, but the inevitable lapse would come. Through it all, my wife has been wonderful and after each escapade I have felt thoroughly ashamed of myself.

About two months ago I decided if I were to settle down it had better be soon, since I am pushing the 40 mark. I must say I have reformed completely, helping my wife with housework, taking her out, bringing her gifts, etc. However, I apparently waited too long for she tells me that about a year ago she got so fed-up and lonely that she decided to go out herself. She met a man and is now in love with him. She is completely indifferent to me. I know she is making a terrible mistake, because I love her very much. She hasn't asked for her freedom but I'm afraid she will. Should I consent to letting her go? Sam H.

AWAITING ANOTHER AFFAIR

ANSWER: In addition to being a chronic philanderer and an unappreciative husband, you are also a hypocrite. In an effort to whitewash your own wrongdoing of the past 16 years, you are assuming the role of an injured male with no other thought but to settle down by the fire and hold the little woman's hand. Rubbish, bunk and hogwash. You know darn well that if she agreed meekly to accept your so-called reformation at its face value, you'd be off chasing another gal in a week. No woman should be asked to suffer the indignities of forgiving time after time, only to have her repentant man go skit-hunting again. One mistake may be forgiven, perhaps even two, but never would I advise a wife to continue the forgiving routine in an endless cycle. For one thing, it actually encourages a husband's infidelity. As long as he knows a sweet speech and promise to discontinue such affairs will win him smiles and kisses, he'll be off again soon on another philandering excursion.

You think you are being most gracious and considerate; I think you're a heel. You do more crowing over a two-month reformation than most husbands do over a lifetime of loyalty.

Your wife's future is for her to work out. She has had 17 years of misery with you, in spite of your claim that the marriage has been a happy one. I think she has enough character to do the right thing, but if her idea of the "right thing" happens to exclude you, you have no one to blame but Sam.

DEAR MISS DIX: In a few weeks I shall celebrate 15 years of marriage to one of the most wonderful women in the world. We are planning a party for her, and I wonder if you would write a letter that I could give her, telling of my appreciation for all she's done. I will copy your letter and give it to her on the anniversary. Thank you. Michael R.

ANSWER: You wrote me a very fine tribute to your wife, and I'm sure you can do the same to her directly. She would of course, instantly spot someone else's writing, and it would be meaningless to her. Just write her exactly what you wrote me, and she'll be thrilled. Writing "I love you" in your own words would be more appreciated than pages of another person's composition. Happy anniversary. I hope you have many more together.

DEAR MISS DIX: Since I don't like kissing, I never accept a date because I know a boy has the right to expect a good-night kiss, at least. I'm 19, and have met a very nice boy but how can I tell him why I won't go out with him. My mother says I'm silly. Julia

ANSWER: A boy doesn't have the right to a good-night kiss. There's no reason why you can't tell the boy at the end of the evening that you are reserving your kisses for a special person and time. If he really likes you, he'll be willing to wait, hoping some day he'll be the chosen one. Try to stop worrying over the matter so much, have fun on a date, and don't be afraid of boys.

Write DOROTHY DIX for free leaflet D-8, "Petty Tyrants." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

French Aircraft Carrier Rescues 1,791 Catholics

SAIGON, Nov. 12 (UP)—The French aircraft carrier Bois Belleau arrived Friday with 1,791 Catholic refugees from North Viet Nam communism who were picked up just outside Viet Minh territorial waters.

They were survivors of a mass flight from the Reds aboard a ragtag armada of sampans, rafts, dugouts and anything that would float.

Spokesmen said many others were drowned when choppy seas snatched their frail craft before they could negotiate the three-mile belt of Communist waters and reach French ships cruising outside.

French officials said the Reds threatened to open fire on any vessel entering the territorial waters.

gunnery drills including shore bombardment, and also engineering, navigational and operational exercises.

of North Viet Nam to rescue the refugees.

The French armistice commission in Hanoi reported that some 4,000 refugees were stranded on a sandbar at the mouth of the Tra Ly River. Unofficial reports reached here that some of the group were aboard the Bois Belleau, the former U. S. Navy's Belleau Wood which was turned over to the French.

But its arrival brought confirmation that the refugees aboard were the comparative handful of 20,000 to 40,000 refugees who had managed to break through the Communist territorial belt and reach French vessels. Seven French warships went north for the rescue effort, and the others still were to be heard from.

A fisherman said a group of men aboard a raft on one of the delta's countless waterways shouted to him, "come with us. We are going to Saigon." But as he approached the raft, a burst of gunfire wounded him in the face. It was a Communist trap. He escaped later, and finally reached a French ship.

The refugees said the Communists imposed crushing taxes on farmers and forced coolies into labor gangs.

MISS EVELYN SWIHART

Waverly Teacher 'Outstanding' 4-H Club Leader

TALLULAH, Nov. 12 (Special)—A first grade teacher at Waverly community elementary school, Miss Evelyn Swihart, has been named as outstanding local 4-H Club leader in the northeast district.

A club leader for the past 23 years—her entire tenure as a teacher at Waverly school in Madison parish—she was named for the award by the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce, New Orleans Times-Picayune, and the State Extension Service, Baton Rouge.

Basis for the honor, officials said, was the excellent training and leadership which Miss Swihart had given to boys and girls of the community who have gone into various occupations and held responsible jobs in state and nation.

In addition to 4-H Club work, the teacher has also been active in various phases of home demonstration activities.

Commenting on the award, Miss

Swihart said, "I like young people and like to be around them, so it was only natural that I got into 4-H Club work. It has been interesting and I feel that maybe I have helped some of the boys and girls become better citizens."

A plaque will be presented to Miss Swihart at a luncheon to be held in the near future by the three sponsoring groups.

Compared with pre-war records, the total ton-miles drawn by freight trains on British railways have risen 40 per cent, the total passenger train miles 28 per cent.

"There are no other personalities involved. It's simply incompatibility," explained Miss Fleming, who is here playing the film part of a Babylonian courtesan in a whistle-provoking costume of pearl-studded bra and briefs, two bracelets and a smile. She had been seen frequently with Prince Aly Khan during his Italian visit last month.

Miss Fleming filed a divorce complaint in Hollywood last April, but the couple effected a reconciliation when Dr. Morrill slipped and broke his leg while visiting her. He said today he will not contest the new divorce action.

"Rome's done it again," was the comment around this Hollywood-on-the-Tiber. Since Italy became a postwar international film producing center this is the fifth marriage involving Hollywood stars to blow up under the sultry Italian sun.

In 1949 Ingrid Bergman came to Italy to make "Stromboli" under the direction of Roberto Rossellini. Husband Peter Lindstrom stayed home. Today, after one of the most publicized romances of a decade, Mrs. Lindstrom is Mrs. Roberto Rossellini and hasn't even been back to Hollywood.

Robert Taylor came to town to film "Quo Vadis" in 1950, the husband of Barbara Stanwyck in a "model" marriage. He was much photographed with Italian starlet Leda Leo—and divorce followed. Taylor is now married to Ursula Thiess, the German actress.

It was the Christmas season a year ago when Frank Sinatra flew to Rome to beg for a reconciliation with Ava Gardner, here making a movie, and being escorted nightly by Spanish bullfighter Luis Dominguez. Result: No reconciliation and divorce.

Then Shelly Winters flew in to visit husband Vittorio Gassman. A few days later Miss Winters angrily summoned the press to announce her marriage was ended—and to express the belief Gassman would marry his frequent companion, Anna Maria Ferrero, youthful Italian starlet.

Gassman didn't but he and Miss Ferrero still are inseparable.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been married 17 years and have three lovely children. Our life together has been happy, with few quarrels except those due to my one weakness—other women.

From time to time I have been tangled with another woman in an affair that would last a few months. Then I'd straighten out, vow never to stray again, but the inevitable lapse would come. Through it all, my wife has been wonderful and after each escapade I have felt thoroughly ashamed of myself.

About two months ago I decided if I were to settle down it had better be soon, since I am pushing the 40 mark. I must say I have reformed completely, helping my wife with housework, taking her out, bringing her gifts, etc. However, I apparently waited too long for she tells me that about a year ago she got so fed-up and lonely that she decided to go out herself. She met a man and is now in love with him. She is completely indifferent to me. I know she is making a terrible mistake, because I love her very much. She hasn't asked for her freedom but I'm afraid she will. Should I consent to letting her go? Sam H.

AWAITING ANOTHER AFFAIR

ANSWER: In addition to being a chronic philanderer and an unappreciative husband, you are also a hypocrite. In an effort to whitewash your own wrongdoing of the past 16 years, you are assuming the role of an injured male with no other thought but to settle down by the fire and hold the little woman's hand. Rubbish, bunk and hogwash. You know darn well that if she agreed meekly to accept your so-called reformation at its face value, you'd be off chasing another gal in a week. No woman should be asked to suffer the indignities of forgiving time after time, only to have her repentant man go skirt-hunting again. One mistake may be forgiven, perhaps even two, but never would I advise a wife to continue the forgiving routine in an endless cycle. For one thing, it actually encourages a husband's infidelity. As long as he knows a sweet speech and promise to discontinue such affairs will win him smiles and kisses, he'll be off again soon on another philandering excursion.

You think you are being most gracious and considerate; I think you're a heel. You do more crowing over a two month reformation than most husbands do over a lifetime of loyalty.

Your wife's future is for her to work out. She has had 17 years of misery with you, in spite of your claim that the marriage has been a happy one. I think she has enough character to do the right thing, but if her idea of the "right thing" happens to exclude you, you have no one to blame but Sam.

DEAR MISS DIX: In a few weeks I shall celebrate 15 years of marriage to one of the most wonderful women in the world. We are planning a party for her, and I wonder if you would write a letter that I could give her, telling of my appreciation for all she's done. I will copy your letter and give it to her on the anniversary. Thank you. Michael R.

ANSWER: You wrote me a very fine tribute to your wife, and I'm sure you can do the same to her directly. She would of course, instantly spot someone else's writing, and it would be meaningless to her. Just write her exactly what you wrote me, and she'll be thrilled. Writing "I love you," in your own words would be more appreciated than pages of another person's composition. Happy anniversary. I hope you have many more together.

DEAR MISS DIX: Since I don't like kissing, I never accept a date because I know a boy has the right to expect a good-night kiss, at least, I'm 19, and have met a very nice boy but how can I tell him why I won't go out with him. My mother says I'm silly. Julia

ANSWER: A boy doesn't have the right to a good-night kiss. There's no reason why you can't tell the boy at the end of the evening that you are reserving your kisses for a special person and time. If he really likes you, he'll be willing to wait, hoping some day he'll be the chosen one. Try to stop worrying over the matter so much, have fun on a date, and don't be afraid of boys.

French Aircraft Carrier Rescues 1,791 Catholics

SAIGON, Nov. 12 (UP)—The French aircraft carrier Bois Belleau arrived Friday with 1,791 Catholic refugees from North Viet Nam communism who were picked up just outside Viet Minh territorial waters.

They were survivors of a mass flight from the Reds aboard a rag-tag armada of sampans, rafts, dugouts and anything that would float.

Spokesmen said many others were drowned when choppy seas capsize their frail craft before they could negotiate the three-mile belt of Communist waters and reach French ships cruising outside.

French officials said the Reds threatened to open fire on any vessel entering the territorial waters.

gunnery drills including shore bombardment, and also engineering, navigational and operational exercises.

of North Viet Nam to rescue the refugees.

The French armistice commission in Hanoi reported that some 4,000 refugees were stranded on a sandbar at the mouth of the Tra Ly River. Unofficial reports reached here that some of the group were aboard the Bois Belleau, the former U. S. Navy's Belleau Wood which was turned over to the French.

But its arrival brought confirmation that the refugees aboard were the comparative handful of 20,000 to 40,000 refugees who had managed to break through the Communist territorial belt and reach French vessels. Seven French warships went north for the rescue effort, and the others still were to be heard from.

A fisherman said a group of men aboard a raft on one of the delta's countless waterways shouted to him, "come with us. We are going to Saigon." But as he approached the raft, a burst of gunfire wounded him in the face. It was a Communist trap. He escaped later, and finally reached a French ship.

The refugees said the Communists imposed crushing taxes on farmers and forced coolies into labor gangs.

MISS EVELYN SWIHART

Waverly Teacher 'Outstanding' 4-H Club Leader

TALLULAH, Nov. 12 (Special)—A first grade teacher at Waverly community elementary school, Miss Evelyn Swihart, has been named as outstanding local 4-H Club leader in the northeast district.

A club leader for the past 23 years—her entire tenure as a teacher at Waverly school in Madison parish—she was named for the award by the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce, New Orleans Times-Picayune, and the State Extension Service, Baton Rouge.

Basis for the honor, officials said, was the excellent training and leadership which Miss Swihart had given to boys and girls of the community who have gone into various occupations and held responsible jobs in state and nation.

In addition to 4-H Club work, the teacher has also been active in various phases of home demonstration activities.

Commenting on the award, Miss

Swihart said, "I like young people and like to be around them, so it was only natural that I got into 4-H Club work. It has been interesting and I feel that maybe I have helped some of the boys and girls become better citizens."

A plaque will be presented to Miss Swihart at a luncheon to be held in the near future by the three sponsoring groups.

Compared with pre-war records, the total ton - miles drawn by freight trains on British railways have risen 40 per cent, the total passenger train miles 28 per cent.

FARM HOME PLANNING

Better living for the farm family is the ultimate objective of farm and home planning. Planning will help the family get where they want to go. No matter whether the income is small, large, or irregular, the year a good or bad one, a plan is needed. It is the pattern that helps assure the family that it will be able to take care of the most urgent needs—it aids in getting the most out of money the family works so hard to earn.

Polish Priest, Once On Nazi Execution List, Is Now Naturalized Citizen

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Polish priest once labeled for execution by the Germans became an American yesterday and said 13 Americans saved his life by liberating his concentration camp a few hours before he was scheduled to die.

One wish he has is to thank the soldiers who saved his life. "I'd also like to find the soldier that gave me my first American cigarette," the Rev. Chester Francis Kozal commented after he became a naturalized citizen in U.S. District Court.

Father Kozal, 42, was one of 36 persons who became citizens during ceremonies on Veterans Day. And the priest, an instructor at the major seminary of Oblate Fathers at Pass Christian, was one of 20 new citizens who visited President Eisenhower earlier this week.

His name also was altered for his new homeland. In Polish it was Czeslaw Kozal; now it's Chester Francis Kozal.

He was one of 32,000 inmates of a concentration camp who were saved by the Americans in 1945. They were hanging to life by thin threads, he said. Outside the camp stood 50 boxcars loaded with dead prisoners.

"I weighed only 90 pounds, but now I weigh 190 pounds," he related.

District Judge Sidney Mize presided as the oath of allegiance was given to the 36 new citizens who came from 15 countries.

"There are so many liberties and freedoms we have here, that I say unreservedly that we have the greatest country on earth," he told them.

And he urged each to "take advantage of your full-fledged citizenship by having a voice in our government."

Maj. Gen. George L. Davies, deputy commander of Keesler Air Force Base, also spoke during the ceremonies.

Fire Victim's Wife Unaware Of His Death

DETROIT (AP)—When Mrs. Maria Vratos arrived in Detroit Tuesday to join her husband Sam after seven years apart, she didn't know he had died in a rooming house fire.

She had come to Detroit with money Vratos, 36, had saved in those seven years since leaving Greece to make a new life for his family in America.

Her brother Nick Halkias met her at the station, but he didn't have the heart to tell her about Sam.

"Sam is sick," he said. "He is in the hospital. You cannot see him today because visitors are not allowed. Perhaps tomorrow."

Nick wanted to put off breaking the tragic news until Maria, 38, had a chance to rest from the long journey. And he wanted time to think over how to put it into words.

Nick and his wife Norma waited until late yesterday before they told Maria. She cried. She slumped into a chair and said nothing.

Nick said Maria and her 9-year-old son Vassilios, whom she brought with her, will live with him and his wife at their home in Algonac, Mich. Vassilios will go to school with his cousins. Nick will raise the boy as his own.

On May 24, 1930, the first train drawn by a steam engine rolled down 12 miles of track on the B. & O.

Noted Expert On Animal Behavior Tells Why Push-Button War Threatens Mass Extermination Of All Mankind

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Could you drum up enough savagery to press the push button on a city-busting, atomic-loaded rocket?

A world-renowned authority on animal and human behavior said today that many normal men would find it less emotionally upsetting than slapping a defenseless little girl.

And that's the reason, says Dr. Konrad Z. Lorenz, that "humanity has been on the razor edge of self-extinction" since the first primitive weapons were devised.

Dr. Lorenz is director of the Max Planck Institute of Behavior Physiology in Buldern, Germany. He is a pioneer in the science of ethology—a subject that deals with animal behaviors and their relationships to humans.

His studies have convinced him that nature equips all animal life with a kind of built-in safety lock or conscience that prevents them from killing off their own species by natural means.

But the use of weapons, he contends, enables man to bypass this restraining emotional reaction.

He has found:

The raven that deliberately pecks out the eyes of some small animals and other birds refuses to use this form of attack against another raven, even when fighting.

A wolf will turn his head away and halt his attack on a hated rival if the defeated wolf bares his neck in submission.

A dog will halt his attack if his dog enemy freezes or turns submissively on his back during a fight.

Dr. Lorenz says a dog will not bite a puppy under 4 or 5 months old, despite the provocation.

Testing the theory with a pet raven, Dr. Lorenz thrust his unprotected eyes close to the bird's sharp bill. The bird drew its bill back quickly, like a parent pulling a straight razor from the probing hand of a child.

Dr. Lorenz said "pure disgust" would prevent a normal man from killing or maiming another man with his bare hands, nails or teeth, if his adversary cried out for pity.

But advances in technical sciences have tended to make killing impersonal, he said in an interview during a lecture tour in the United States.

The person who starts a push-button war, Dr. Lorenz contends, could—through repression—keep himself from realizing the consequences of his act.

Weather Plane Scouts Squally Area In Gulf

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—A Navy weather plane scouted a suspicious area in the southwestern Gulf of Mexico Friday near the Yucatan peninsula and reported there is no indication that a tropical storm is brewing there.

The hurricane hunter plane left Jacksonville at 4 a. m. to scout the area. The Miami weather bureau said the plane found winds of only 20 miles per hour in the center of the low pressure area.

The hurricane season normally ends Nov. 15 but storms as late as Dec. 15 have been reported.

The Shetland Islands are off the coast of Scotland.

Iceland has no railway.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—The market opened up four to six points on all months except new March which was up 12 points on one trade for the day. With very light liquidation and hedging, the sharp rally resulted more from a scarcity of offerings than any large demand.

New Orleans and locals supplied this volume of buying which pushed prices 11 to 20 points higher. When this demand dried up, the market developed a quiet tone for the balance of the day closing with net gains of two through 10 points.

Clayton showed a willingness to sell March rather than December against current hedging orders which represents some change in their recent policy.

For the week ending November 5, the unfixed call sales position increased 1,300 bales to total 1,681, 100 against 1,014,300 a year ago.

The December position decreased 46,300 bales; unfixed call purchases increased 3,400 bales to 155,500 vs. 139,500 last year.

COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Trade and commission house buying sent the cotton market higher today with cotton futures closing 15 to 75 cents a bale higher.

Demand for cotton was attributed to two reasons: The increased movement of cotton into the loan and belief of traders that after the recent declines the market was due for a rise.

Gains in futures reached $1.25 a bale before prices reacted on profit taking and hedging.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—The market opened up four to six points on all months except new March which was up 12 points on one trade for the day. With very light liquidation and hedging, the sharp rally resulted more from a scarcity of offerings than any large demand.

New Orleans and locals supplied this volume of buying which pushed prices 11 to 20 points higher. When this demand dried up, the market developed a quiet time for the balance of the day closing with net gains of two through 10 points.

Clayton showed a willingness to sell March rather than December against current hedging orders which represents some change in their recent policy.

For the week ending November 5, the unfixed call sales position increased 1,300 bales to total 1,681, 100 against 1,014,800 a year ago.

The December position decreased 46,300 bales; unfixed call purchases increased 3,400 bales to 155,500 vs. 139,500 last year.

Northeast At Louisiana College On Last Road Trip

Wildcats Choice To Defeat Tribe In Game Tonight

Northeast State's Indians go to Pineville this evening for their final road game of the 1954 season when they tangle tonight at 8 o'clock with the Wildcats of Louisiana College in a Gulf States Conference game. Decided underdogs against the Wildcats, the Indians will be playing against the team which only last year was under their own head football coach, Devone Payne.

When Payne moved to Monroe to take over the rebuilding fortunes of the Tribe, Jim Keith returned to head Wildcat grid fortunes. He had previously served a six-year hitch with Louisiana College as chief football mentor. Last year he was coaching the Pineville High team. The game will also find players on each team who are well acquainted, many having come from the same high schools. It'll be old home week, but it won't be noticeable on the field when the Indians go after an unexpected win for Payne over his former team.

The Indians came out of their Northwestern defeat without a material change in their situation. Banged up at the ends and center, and playing with an essentially freshman squad, as they have been doing all year, Northeast State will be hard pressed to stay with the Wildcats who have shown good football this year in the tough G.S.C. This will be the final conference game for the Wildcats, but the Indians have yet to face one of the toughest of all in Louisiana Tech, next weekend in Brown Stadium.

Like Northeast State, the Baptists have not been blessed with an oversupply of veteran lettermen. They started the season with only 12 lettermen. Unlike the Indians, however, the Wildcats were blessed with four of those lettermen being backfield performers. Coach Payne has been playing all season with a backfield composed mainly of freshmen and transfers playing for the first time for the maroon and gold. The "Cats' first string backfield is one of the strongest in the Gulf Conference. Masterminded by Harold "Sonny" Clark, leading G.S.C. runner-gainer last year, the Louisiana College backfield also has Frank Mobley, a speedy sophomore who starred at Ouachita High, and Ernie Duplechin at halfbacks, and co-captain Martin Verhagen at fullback.

Center is also one of the "Cats' strongest positions. They have two veteran lettermen at the pivot in senior Chester Manual and junior Bobby Starr. Northeast State normally had one of its strongest men at center in Sammy Moore, but a knee injury in the Livingston State game two weeks ago has put him out of action.

The orange and blue of Louisiana College and the maroon and gold of Northeast are in equal situations in that both are in rebuilding years, but the Wildcats have the edge in experience and depth.

Probable starting lineups: —Louisiana College: Ward and Jeans, ends; Meredith and Bullock, tackles; Bullock and Lanier, guards; Manual, center; Clark, quarterback; Mobley, and Southern, halfbacks; and Duplechin, fullback.

—Northeast State: Andrews and Cobb, ends; McKinn and Yocum, tackles; Berry and Melancon, guards; Calhoun, center; Chambers, quarterback; Dozier and Leos, halfbacks; and Powell, fullback.

Bucyrus-Erie rolled back into a tie for first place with Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 2 in the Industrial Equipment Bowling League by taking three points from Falstaff Beer as Jackson posted a 184 game and Canizaro a 504 series to lead the way. Bell's 173 game and A. Paylor's high series led Falstaff.

Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 2 was forced to share the lead after dropping three points to Foremost Dairy as Wood, 170-465, set the pace for the dairy hands. Anderson's 196 game and Moore's 491 series led Sand and Gravel.

Southwest Gas made a sweep of all four points from Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 1 as Smith turned in a fine night's work with a 212 game and 556 series. Younes, 109-456, led M.S.G. No. 1.

C.S.C. Ammonia also notched four more points as Glenn, with a 170 game and 490 series, led the way over Standard Office Supply. Starting led S.O.S. with 154-459.

C.S.C. Dixsol scooped up three points against Southern Equipment as Dixsol posted a new team high game for the league for the season. Thompson was Dixsol's big bowler with 206-591. Dage, 210-534, led the Equipments.

Ruston Outlasts Jonesboro-Hodge To Claim Crown

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Ruston High School Bears won the district three double-A football championship here tonight by defeating Jonesboro-Hodge, 13-0, but the Lincoln parish machine had to fight every step of the way to do it.

The underdog Tigers fought the invading Bears to a standstill the first half in which neither team was able to register a first down.

In the half, Bobby Hinton, Ruston end, recovered a J-H fumble in the Tiger end zone for a touchdown. Victor Colvin kicked the point, and Ruston led 7-0 at the half.

Midway of the third period Ruston counted again when Reggie French broke through the middle for 69 yards to pay dirt.

Ruston totaled five first downs to one for Jonesboro-Hodge, all in the last half. The Bears out-rushed the Bengals, 170 yards to 41. Each club attempted five passes, Ruston completing the only pass good for the night for only five yards. The Bears intercepted two J-H passes, and the Tigers intercepted one.

James Bond was a power in the Jonesboro-Hodge line, while Paul Covington played a fine game in the Ruston forward wall.

May Raise Prices On Minor Leaguers

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — A proposal to pin a $15,000 price tag in the Major League draft of minor league baseball players will be submitted to the winter baseball meetings.

A spokesman for commissioner Ford Frick said today the proposal first was presented to the Major Leagues in July but was tabled to allow time for study. It was drafted by Frick's major-league committee.

Under present baseball rules, players drafted from the Pacific Coast League cost $15,000. From the class AAA leagues they cost $10,000 and on down to $2,000 for players from Class D leagues.

Mrs. Nash New Twin City Champ; Nips Mrs. Summer

Mrs. Clyde Nash yesterday was crowned Twin City women's golf champion as she defeated Mrs. George Summer in the championship final of the annual Twin City Women's Championship Tournament at Municipal Golf Club. Mrs. Nash won 4 and 3 to succeed Mrs. George Miller as Twin City champ. Mrs. Miller did not defend her title.

Mrs. C. B. McMahon won the championship consolation final with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. Harold Woods.

The championship final between Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Summer had originally been set for Sunday afternoon, but the contenders decided to settle the issue yesterday.

Winners in other flights were: Mrs. Fred Fudickar, first; Mrs. L. L. Walters, second; and Mrs. Ed Harper, third.

Mrs. Fudickar defeated Mrs. Jimmie Harbuck, 1 up, in the final of the first flight; Mrs. Walters won the second flight by beating Mrs. Sara Ducote, 2 and 1; and Mrs. Harper triumphed in the third flight by beating Mrs. Jake Ussery, 2 up.

Other consolation winners were: First—Mrs. L. L. Watkins beat Mrs. A. H. Eaves, 1 up.

Second—Mrs. Billy Higdon beat Mrs. Mary Irby, 1 up in 19.

Third—Mrs. Margaret Bendel beat Mrs. Jerry Sugar, 4 and 3.

Mississippi State's chances hinge on whether Iron man Arthur Davis can get churning past LSU's 215-pound line. Intely replenished by the addition of bulky fullback Lou Deutschmann at tackle.

Davis, third leading ground gainer in the SEC, is considered one of the best halfbacks in the South, both going and coming. State's 5-3 record is a testimony to his running and hitting power.

The Maroons hold conference wins over Tulane and Alabama and have lost to Tennessee and Florida. LSU upset Florida for its only SEC win and has lost to Georgia Tech, Alabama, Mississippi and Kentucky.

Bossier Routs Ouachita

By TED HEKATHORN

The Bossier City Bearkats, not to be outdone by their two Shreveport high school cousins, rolled over the Ouachita Parish Lions in an AAA tussle last night at Brown Stadium, 47-0.

The Lion offense could never seem to get going against the Bossier eleven and was further stymied by an injury to ace halfback like McMullen, who was out of service all during the second half, having been injured late in the second quarter and removed to a local hospital.

Bossier scored after four minutes in the first quarter, when fullback Pete Moore scampered around end and outdistanced the Lion defenders for an 82-yard touchdown jaunt. Before the quarter had ended, Moore again tumbled on an end run, this time from 27 yards out, and Jake Montalbano, a hard-hitting Bearkat back all evening, scored the second-period marker when he burst through center for 20 yards. J. W. Slack kicked all three Bossier conversions, and the visitors led, 21-0, at halftime.

Slack scored a single touchdown in the third quarter, with a 42-yard dash around end, and again kicked the point.

Ouachita's sole offensive display came in this quarter, when Dickie Crowe hit Ralph Ward, Richard Campbell, and Jackie DuPriest with successive passes, carrying to the Bearkat 22. Two penalties halted the attack and took them back to midfield, where Bossier took over on a pass interception as the quarter ended.

Slack scored twice more in the final stanza, one on a four-yard plunge, and on a 55-yard run. Montalbano, on a pass reception from Billy Davis, scampered 20 yards for the final TD.

D. W. Laughlin plunged for the fourth-quarter conversion. Hershel Adeock, Glynn Russell, Ralph Ward and T. L. Fuller were the Ouachita defensive standouts.

The lineups:

Winnsboro Tags Delhi With 1st Defeat, 13 To 6

WINNSBORO, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Delhi Bears, already crowned champs of their Class B district and unbeaten in seven games, finally met their match here tonight as the Class A Winnsboro Wildcats banged out a 13-6 triumph.

Delhi was the first half master and took the lead in the opening quarter when Kenneth O'Neal, Bruin tackle, scooped up a Winnsboro fumble and scampered 26 yards for the Delhi touchdown.

But Winnsboro was just as alert for Bruin bobbles, and both last half Winnsboro touchdowns were set up by fumbles.

The Wildcats covered a Delhi fumble on the Bear ten in the third quarter, and two plays later "Chuch" Gordy went over from the six. Whitney Riser kicked the point that put Winnsboro ahead.

Then in the final period, the Wildcats pounced on a Bear fumble on Delhi's 28. Don Boutwell broke away to pay dirt on the next play.

The punting of Billy Pirtle kept the Wildcats out of holes, and they also rocked Delhi offensively by recovering three fumbles and intercepting four passes. Interceptions were by Billy McGraw, James Mock, Jimmy Parker, and Davis Jones. Delhi had the edge in first downs, 7 to 3.

Rams Wallop Tornado For Triple-A Throne

BASTROP, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Bastrop football fans were cheering their loudest tonight and with plenty of reason. Their Bastrop High School Rams made it official as north Louisiana district triple-A football champions with a 20-0 victory over the Haynesville Golden Tornado. For all intent and purpose, however, the Rams were practically conceded the crown, a week earlier at Shreveport when they plastered the favored Byrd Yellow Jackets with a 28-7 upset.

From the moment Jerry Stormont, classy Bastrop quarterback, hurled a touchdown pass to Sherwood White, 180-pound Ram end, for the initial touchdown in the first quarter there was no doubt about the superiority of the Rams. The touchdown pass covered 20 yards. Bill Loftin, who converted twice, missed the first try and Bastrop led only 6-0 at the half.

But J. W. "Red" Brodnax, the power-driving Bastrop back, and his running mate, Ronny Johnson, added a touchdown apiece in the next two quarters to make things safe for the Rams.

Brodnax, a front-runner in the Louisiana triple-A scoring derby, smashed through the middle of the Tornado wall from the one for his third quarter touchdown. Johnson took a fourth period pitchout from Stormont and scampered 15 yards to the end zone.

Bastrop compiled 15 first downs against nine for Haynesville.

Winnfield Falls To Jena Giants By 33-2 Margin

JENA, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Jena Giants won new hope in their double-A title chase tonight by socking the Winnfield Tigers, 33-2, to hand the Bengals their first league loss. Jena is once-beaten in league play. A Winnfield win over Natchitoches next week would put all three back in the race with lone losses.

Jena, with 19 first downs to four for Winnfield, opened the scoring on a 34-yard dash by Robert Plunkett, and Ronald Manchester counted in the second quarter from three yards out.

Enjoying only a 13-0 lead at the half, the Giants counted two more in the third, and Jerome Owens the fourth.

Plunkett went 60 yards for one in the third, and Jerome Owens followed with a 23-yard TD gallop. A three-yard pass, Plunkett to Billy Ray Poole, brought the final TD. Richard Bridges booted three conversions.

Winnfield's two points came on a safety when James Beach was caught behind the Jena goal.

Rayville Whips Oak Grove, 48-0, To Close Season

RAYVILLE, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Scoring in every quarter, the Rayville High Hornets smashed Oak Grove, 48-0, in the Hornet homecoming game here tonight.

Keith Amos opened the touchdown parade with a 50-yard gallop, and counted again in the second quarter on a plunge from the five to cap an 86-yard march.

Single touchdowns were counted by James Epphette on a pass play from Lanny Boles that covered 56 yards; Lanny Graves on a line plunge after setting up his score with an interception; Jerry Hoben on a 5-yard crash; Frank Burroughs, through the middle for 93; and Clayton Mayo from the 50. Tackle David McCarty converted six times.

Amos, playing his last game for the Hornets, ran his season's point total to 82. The first downs were 15-6 for Rayville.

Hanson Beaten By Waterproof By 28-14 Count

WATERPROOF, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Waterproof Tigers piled up 21 points in the second quarter and coasted to a 28-14 victory over Hanson Memorial of Franklin here tonight.

J. D. Stockstill plunged one yard, Leroy Hendricks picked up a Hanson fumble and raced 10 yards to score. Glen Mallory went 15 for a third TD, and Vernon Mitchell kicked three of his four conversions to pile up the second period margin.

Hanson fought back for a third period TD from one yard out by Charles Hidalgo, who added the point, and Leo Bechel covered a fumble in the end zone for the next Hanson TD in the fourth. Hidalgo again converted.

Stockstill capped the night's work for the Tigers with a 19-yard gallop to paydirt in the fourth.

Ferriday Socks Newellton Foes In 32-0 Contest

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Ferriday High's district Class A champions celebrated homecoming tonight with a 32-0 conquest of the Newellton Bears and the powerful Class B outfit held the champs to their smallest point production for a single game this year. It was the ninth win of the season for the club that was state Class B champions in '53.

The Bulldogs enjoyed a three-touchdown lead on tallies by Tommy Purvis, Harry Pankey, and Don Horton, before Guy Hill, the leading scorer of the district produced two quick fourth period touchdowns.

Hill, in running his point production to 109, went off tackle 13 yards for his first, and tallied again from the eight after Max Fugler, powerful Bulldog center, had set it up by intercepting a Newellton pass.

Purvis scored first 17 yards over center. Pankey counted on a 40-yard pass-and-run play with Hill throwing, and Horton tallied from the one. Clyde Webber converted twice.

Northeast At Louisiana College On Last Road Trip

Wildcats Choice To Defeat Tribe In Game Tonight

Northeast State's Indians go to Pineville this evening for their final road game of the 1954 season when they tangle tonight at 8 o'clock with the Wildcats of Louisiana College in a Gulf States Conference scrap. Decided underdogs against the Wildcat eleven, the Indians will be playing against the team which only last year was under their own head football coach, Deane Payne.

When Payne moved to Monroe to take over the rebuilding fortunes of the Tribe, Jim Keith returned to head Wildcat grid fortunes. He had previously served a six-year hitch with Louisiana College as chief football mentor. Last year he was coaching the Pineville High team. The game will also find players on each team who are well acquainted, many having come from the same high schools. It'll be old home week, but it won't be noticeable on the field when the Indians go after an unexpected win for Payne over his former team.

The Indians came out of their Northwestern defeat without a material change in their situation. Banged up at the ends and center, and playing with an essentially freshman squad, as they have been doing all year, Northeast State will be hard pressed to stay with the Wildcats who have shown good football this year in the tough G.S.C. This will be the final conference game for the Wildcats, but the Indians have yet to face one of the toughest of all in Louisiana Tech, next weekend in Brown Stadium.

Like Northeast State, the Baptists have not been blessed with an oversupply of veteran lettermen. They started the season with only 12 lettermen. Unlike the Indians, however, the Wildcats were blessed with four of those lettermen being top backfield performers. Coach Payne has been playing all season with a backfield composed mainly of freshmen and transfers playing for the first time for the maroon and gold. The "Cats first string backfield is one of the strongest in the Gulf Conference. Masterminded by Harold "Sonny" Clark, leading G.S.C. ground gainer last year, the Louisiana College backfield also has Frank Mobley, a speedy sophomore who starred at Ouachita High, and Ernie Duplechin at halfbacks, and co-captain Martin Verhagen at fullback. "Center is also one of the "Cats strongest positions. They have two veteran lettermen at the pivot in senior Chester Manual and junior Bobby Starr. Northeast State normally had one of its strongest men at center in Sammy Moore, but a knee injury in the Livingston State game two weeks ago has put him out of action.

The orange and blue of Louisiana College and the maroon and gold of Northeast are in equal situations in that both are in rebuilding years, but the Wildcats have the edge in experience and depth.

Louisiana College: Ward and Cobb, ends; Meredith and Bullock, tackles; Bullock and Lanier, guards; Manual, center; Clark, quarterback; Mobley and Southgren, halfbacks; and Duplechin, fullback.

Northeast State: Andrews and Cobb, ends; McKinn and Yocom, tackles; Berry and Melancon, guards; Calhoun, center; Chambliss, quarterback; Dossier and Leos, halfbacks; and Powell, fullback.

Bucyrus-Erie rolled back into a tie for first place with Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 2 in the Industrial Equipment Bowling League by taking three points from Falstaff Beer as Jackson posted a 184 game and Canizaro a 504 series to lead the way. Bell's 173 game and A. Paylor's high series led Falstaff.

Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 2 was forced to share the lead after dropping three points to Foremost Dairy as Wood, 170-465, set the pace for the dairy hands. Anderson's 196 game and Moore's 491 series led Sand and Gravel.

Southwest Gas made a sweep of all four points from Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 1 as Smith turned in a fine night's work with a 212 game and 556 series. Younse, 199-456, led M.S.G. No. 1.

C.S.C. Ammonia also notched four more points as Glenn, with a 170 game and 490 series, led the way over Standard Office Supply. Stastny led S.O.S. with 154-459.

C.S.C. Dixsol scooped up three points against Southern Equipment as Dixsol posted a new team high game for the league for the season. Thompson was Dixsol's big bowler with 206-591. Dage, 210-534, led the Equipmenters.

Ruston Outlasts Jonesboro-Hodge To Claim Crown

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Ruston High School Bearcats won the district three double-A football championship here tonight by defeating Jonesboro-Hodge, 13-0, but the Lincoln parish machine had to fight every step of the way to do it.

The underdog Tigers fought the Ruston Bearcats to a standstill the first half in which neither team was able to register a first down.

But with one minute to go in the half, Bobby Hinton, Ruston end, recovered a J-H fumble in the Tiger end zone for a touchdown. Victor Colvin kicked the point, and Ruston led 7-0 at the half.

Midway of the third period Ruston counted again when Reggie French broke through the middle for 69 yards to pay dirt.

Ruston totalled five first downs to one for Jonesboro-Hodge, all in the last half. The Bearcats out-rushed the Bengals, 170 yards to 41. Each club attempted five passes, Ruston completing the only pass good for the night for only five yards. The Bearcats intercepted two J-H passes, and the Tigers intercepted one.

May Raise Prices On Minor Leaguers

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — A proposal to pin a $15,000 price tag in the Major League draft of minor league baseball players will be submitted to the winter baseball meetings.

A spokesman for commissioner Ford Frick said today the proposal first was presented to the Major Leagues in July but was tabled to allow time for study. It was drafted by Frick's major-minor league committee.

Under present baseball rules, players drafted from the Pacific Coast League cost $15,000. From the class A-A leagues they cost $10,000 and on down to $2,000 for players from Class D leagues.

Mrs. Nash New Twin City Champ; Nips Mrs. Summer

Mrs. Clyde Nash yesterday was crowned Twin City women's golf champion as she defeated Mrs. George Summer in the championship final of the annual Twin City Women's Championship Tournament at Municipal Golf Club.

Mrs. Nash won 4 and 3 to succeed Mrs. George Miller as Twin City champ. Mrs. Miller did not defend her title.

Mrs. C. B. McMahan won the championship consolation final with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. Harold Woods.

The championship final between Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Summer had originally been set for Sunday afternoon, but the contenders decided to settle the issue yesterday.

Winners in other flights were Mrs. Fred Fudicker, first; Mrs. L. L. Walters, second; and Mrs. Ed Harper, third.

Mrs. Fudicker defeated Mrs. Jimmie Harbeck, 1 up, in the finals of the first flight; Mrs. Walters won the second flight by beating Mrs. Sara Ducote, 2 and 1; and Mrs. Harper triumphed in the third flight by beating Mrs. Jake Ussery, 2 up.

Other consolation winners were: First — Mrs. R. L. Watkins beat Mrs. A. H. Eaves, 1 up.

Favored Jones Loses Decision

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — Shifty Hector Constance of Trinidad ran his modest unbeaten streak in the U. S. to three tonight by gaining a close and split decision over favored Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Jones outweighed Constance, 161 to 153.

An 8-5 underdog, the rangy, fleet-footed West Indian won the votes of referee Al Berl and Arthur Susskind by 6 rounds to 4. Judge Frank Probes had it a draw, 5 rounds and 6 points for each. The Associated Press had Constance in front, 6-3-1.

Bossier Routs Ouachita

By TED HEKATHORN

The Bossier City Bearcats, not to be outdone by their two Shreveport high school cousins, rolled over the Ouachita Parish Lions in an AAA tussle last night at Brown Stadium, 47-0.

The Lion offense could never seem to get going against the Bossier eleven, and was further stymied by an injury to ace half-back Ike McMullen, who was out of service all during the second half, having been injured late in the second quarter and removed to a local hospital.

Bossier scored after four minutes in the first quarter, when fullback Pete Moore scampered around end and outdistanced the Lion defenders for an 82-yard touchdown jaunt.

Before the quarter had ended, Moose again tallied on an end run, this time from 27 yards out; and Jake Montalbano, a hard-hitting Bearkat back all evening, scored the second-period marker when he burst through center for 20 yards.

J. W. Slack kicked all three Bossier conversions, and the visitors led, 21-0, at halftime.

Slack scored a single touchdown in the third quarter, with a 42-yard dash around end, and again kicked the point.

Ouachita's sole offensive display came in this quarter, when Dickie Crowe hit Ralph Ward, Richard Campbell, and Jackie DuPriest with successive passes, carrying to the Bearkat 22. Two penalties halted the attack and took them back to midfield, where Bossier took over on a pass interception as the quarter ended.

Slack scored twice more in the final stanza, one on a four-yard plunge, and on a 55-yard run. Montalbano, on a pass reception from Billy Davis, scampered 20 yards for the final TD.

D. W. Laughlin plunged for the fourth-quarter conversion.

Hershel Adcock, Glynn Russell, Ralph Ward and T. L. Fuller were the Ouachita defensive standouts.

The lineups:

Ouachita

Ends: Tannehill, Adcock, Van, Ward, Campbell, D. Smith

Tackles: Wheeler, R. Smith, Cobb, Peters, Whitton, Alexander

Guards: Nichols, Estes, Tousey, Dabnam, Greer, Corry

Centers: Russell, Greenlee, Lanningham

Backs: Crowe, McMullen, Fuller, DuPriest, Deal, Royce, Clark, McGown, Roach

Bossier City

Ends: Bell, Enis, Dalrymple, Booth, Wright, Harris

Tackles: Nelson, Scroggins, Thorn, Forbis

Guards: Norman, Patterson, Harbuck, Almond, Thompson

Centers: Stillwell, Harris, Preston

Winnsboro Tags Delhi With 1st Defeat, 13 To 6

WINNSBORO, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Delhi Bears, already crowned champs of their Class B district and unbeaten in seven games, finally met their match here tonight as the Class A Winnsboro Wildcats banged out a 13-6 triumph.

Delhi was the first half master and took the lead in the opening quarter when Kenneth O'Neal, Bruin tackle, scooped up a Winnsboro fumble and scampered 25 yards for the Delhi touchdown.

But Winnsboro was just as alert for Bruin bobbles, and both last half Winnsboro touchdowns were set up by fumbles.

The Wildcats covered a Delhi fumble on the Bear ten in the third quarter, and two plays later "Chuch" Gordy went over from the six. Whitney Riser kicked the point that put Winnsboro ahead.

Then in the final period, the Wildcats pounced on a Bear fumble on Delhi's 28. Don Boutwell broke away to pay dirt on the next play.

The punting of Billy Pirtle kept the Wildcats out of holes, and they also rocked Delhi offensively by recovering three fumbles and intercepting four passes. Interceptions were by Billy McGraw, James Mock, Jimmie Parker, and Davis Jones. Delhi had the edge in first downs, 7 to 3.

Winnfield Falls To Jena Giants By 33-2 Margin

By J. D. STOCKSTILL

JENA, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Jena Giants won new hope in their double-A title chase tonight by socking the Winnfield Tigers, 33-2, to hand the Bengals their first league loss. Jena is once-beaten in league play. A Winnfield win over Natchitoches next week would put all three back in the race with lone losses.

Jena, with 19 first downs to four for Winnfield, opened the scoring on a 34-yard dash by Robert Plunkett, and Ronald Manchester counted in the second quarter from three yards out.

Enjoying only a 13-0 lead at the half, the Giants counted two more in the third, and Jerome Owens the fourth.

Plunkett went 60 yards for one in the third, and Jerome Owens followed with a 23-yard TD gallop. A three-yard pass, Plunkett to Billy Ray Poole, brought the final TD. Richard Bridges boosted three conversions.

Winnfield's two points came on a safety when James Beach was caught behind the Jena goal.

By J. D. STOCKSTILL

WATERPROOF, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Waterproof Tigers piled up 21 points in the second quarter and coasted to a 28-14 victory over Hanson Memorial of Franklin here tonight.

J. D. Stockstill plunged one yard, Leroy Hendricks picked up a Hanson fumble and raced 10 yards to score. Glen Mallory went 15 for a third TD, and Vernon Mitchell kicked three of his four conversions to pile up the second period margin.

Hanson fought back for a third period TD from one yard out by Charles Hidalgo, who added the point, and Leo Becnel covered a fumble in the end zone for the next Hanson TD in the fourth. Hidalgo again converted.

Stockstill capped the night's work for the Tigers with a 19-yard gallop to paydirt in the fourth.

Ferriday Socks Newellton Foes In 32-0 Contest

By J. D. STOCKSTILL

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Ferriday High's district Class A champions celebrated homecoming tonight with a 32-0 conquest of the Newellton Bears and the powerful Class B outfit held the champs to their smallest point production for a single game this year. It was the ninth win of the season for the club that was state Class B champions in '53.

The Bulldogs enjoyed a three-touchdown lead on tallies by Tommy Purvis, Harry Pankey, and Don Horton, before Guy Hill, the leading scorer of the district produced two quick fourth period touchdowns.

Hill, in running his point production to 109, went off tackle 13 yards for his first, and tallied again from the eight after Max Fugler, powerful Bulldog center, had set it up by intercepting a Newellton pass.

Purvis scored first 17 yards over center. Pankey counted on a 40-yard pass-and-run play with Hill throwing, and Horton tallied from the one. Clyde Webber converted twice.

Score by quarters:

Rayville Whips Oak Grove, 48-0, To Close Season

By J. D. STOCKSTILL

RAYVILLE, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Scoring in every quarter, the Rayville High Hornets smashed Oak Grove, 48-0, in the Hornet homecoming game here tonight.

Keith Amos opened the touchdown parade with a 50-yard gallop, and counted again in the second quarter on a plunge from the five to cap an 88-yard march.

Single touchdowns were counted by James Eppinette on a pass play from Lanny Boies that covered 56 yards; Lanny Graves on a line plunge after setting up his score with an interception; Jerry Hoben on a 5-yard crash; Frank Burroughs, through the middle for 93; and Clayton Mayo from the 50. Tackle David McCarty converted six times.

Amos, playing his last game for the Hornets, ran his season's point total to 82. The first downs were 15-6 for Rayville.

Determine To Race In Pimlico Special

By J. D. STOCKSTILL

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP) — Pimlico got a pleasant surprise today by receiving acceptance of Determine's invitation to run in the $50,000 Special a week from tomorrow.

Pimlico had not been counting on the Kentucky Derby winner who has been idle since early summer in California.

Andy Crevolin, Determine's owner, also had accepted an invitation to run his 3-year-old in the Laurel International Nov. 3 and then withdrew.

Determine is the ninth acceptance received for the Special which is limited to 3-year-olds.

By J. D. STOCKSTILL

BASTROP, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Bastrop football fans were cheering their loudest tonight and with plenty of reason. Their Bastrop High School Rams made it official as north Louisiana district triple-A football champions with a 20-0 victory over the Haynesville Golden Tornado. For all intent and purpose, however, the Rams were practically conceded the crown a week earlier at Shreveport when they plastered the favored Byrd Yellow Jackets with a 28-7 upset.

From the moment Jerry Stormont, classy Bastrop quarterback, hurled a touchdown pass to Sherwood White, 180-pound Ram end, for the initial touchdown in the first quarter there was no doubt about the superiority of the Rams.

The touchdown pass covered 20 yards. Bill Loftin, who converted twice, missed the first try and Bastrop led only 6-0 at the half.

But J. W. "Red" Brodnax, the power-driving Bastrop back, and his running mate, Ronny Johnson, added a touchdown apiece in the next two quarters to make things safe for the Rams.

Brodnax, a front-runner in the Louisiana triple-A scoring derby, smashed through the middle of the Tornado wall from the one for his third quarter touchdown. Johnson took a fourth period pitchout from Stormont and scampered 15 yards to the end zone.

Bastrop compiled 15 first downs against nine for Haynesville.

Arkansas, Ohio State Can Clinch Bids To Big Bowls

League Rivalry, Big Inter-Loop Games Top Card

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The long college football season draws close to the end today with a lot of unfinished business before the New Year's Day bowls are filled and all conference races are settled.

Major games are on tap from coast to coast, and there is a possibility a couple of bowl teams will be known before the sun sets Saturday evening.

Two teams leading the bowl scramble at the moment are Arkansas and Ohio State, and they have a couple of tough battles ahead. Ohio State, with an eye on the Pasadena Rose Bowl, plays upstaged Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., Southern Methodist invades Fayetteville, Ark., to meet the Razorbacks, who are leading the Southwest Conference race. All Arkansas needs is a tie to clinch a berth in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl scrap at Dallas.

Ohio State, No. 2 team in the country, could clinch the Big 10 title by beating Purdue, and with the aid of two big "ifs." Iowa would have to defeat Minnesota at Minneapolis, with Michigan State taming Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Purdue hung the only loss on Notre Dame this year, 27-14, and could gum up the Big 10 works by taking unbeaten Ohio State, especially if Michigan and Minnesota should win. Each of the latter has lost one conference game.

In other major clashes, Oklahoma plays Missouri, North Carolina tackles Notre Dame, Georgia Tech has Alabama, Auburn meets Georgia, Southern California plays Washington, Mississippi is at Houston tonight while Navy and Army tune up for their big Nov. 27 clash by taking on Columbia and Pennsylvania, respectively.

U.C.L.A., the No. 1 team, has an open date this week awaiting its game with Southern California next Saturday. Southern California looms as the Pacific Coast entrant in the Rose Bowl regardless, since U.C.L.A. played there last time and can't go twice in a row.

Georgia, unbeaten and once tied in the Southeastern Conference, must get past Auburn and then Georgia Tech next week to have clear sailing into the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, which is not tied to any conference.

The Big Seven situation still is obscure. The conference says Oklahoma, the likely champion again, can't repeat in the Miami Orange Bowl. But that won't prevent the Sooners from knocking Missouri cold, which would leave the way open for Kansas State or Nebraska. Kansas State, however, has beaten Nebraska.

The other Orange Bowl representative comes from the Atlantic Coast Conference, currently led by Maryland and Duke. Last Jan. 1 Maryland played at Miami, and the conference selects the best representative team.

As for the moss-covered traditionalists, Yale and Princeton have their 77th meeting. Yale victories today and over Harvard next week would give the Bulldogs the Ivy League crown, regardless of what happens in this afternoon's Harvard-Brown and Cornell-Dartmouth games.

Other major games today:

East—Colgate-Syracuse, Boston University-Boston College, Rutgers-Penn State, Holy Cross-Fordham.

Midwest—Wisconsin-Illinois, Indiana-Northwestern, Iowa State-Kansas State, Kansas-Oklahoma A. and M., Wichita-Cincinnati.

South—Duke-Wake Forest, Clemson-Maryland, Virginia-South Carolina, Richmond-North Carolina State, West Virginia-William and Mary, Waynesburg-Virginia Tech, Citadel-VMI, Florida-Tennessee, Mississippi State-Louisiana State, Tulane-Vanderbilt, Memphis State-Kentucky, Villanova-Mississippi Southern, Furman-Florida State.

Tech In Final Home Game With Austin Foes Tonight

RUSTON, La., Nov. 12 (Special)—Louisiana Tech clashes with the Austin College Kangaroos here Saturday night in an intercollegiate game that brings the two colleges together on the gridiron for the first time in the history of the schools. Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m. It's the last home game of the season for Tech.

Located at Sherman, Tex., Austin will be the second team from the Lone Star state that the Techmen have met this season. On Oct. 16 the Bulldogs were host to the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets from Brownwood and if the Kangaroos are as tough as the H.P.C. "Jackets" Tech managed to beat them 13-7 the Canines will have their hands full again this week.

The non-conference tilt will not concern Tech's standing in the Gulf States Conference. Last week's 35-24 loss to undefeated Southeastern Louisiana College dropped the Techsters from second to fourth place in the loop. Leading the GSC is SLC with a 4-0 record. Northwestern and Southwestern both have a 3-1 standing and are tied for second. Tech has won three and lost two in GSC play.

Playing this year as an independent without conference affiliation, Austin College has rolled up an impressive record in winning five and losing three this fall.

Coach Harry Buffington's team rolled over Southeastern Oklahoma 35-12, blanked Mississippi College 28-0, outscored East Central Oklahoma 45-12, and for the second straight year defeated the University of Mexico, this fall by a 46-20 count.

Last week the Kangaroos swamped Arkansas State College 61-20. Arkansas State was the team that had such a good season in 1953 and played in the Tangerine Bowl. The strong Austin outfit scored more points against Arkansas State's Indians than powerful Southeastern Louisiana did on Oct. 23. SLC's Lions beat Arkansas State 51-0.

Both Tech and Austin have had one "if" game this fall, and oddly enough, both fell on the same Saturday. Two weeks ago the Bulldogs were the 25-0 victims of Southwestern Louisiana. That same day a homecoming celebration inspired the Wildcats of Louisiana College to whip the Kangaroos 52-20. Tech had defeated Louisiana College 27-0 on the opening game of the season.

The Texans were also nosed out by Midwestern University of Wichita Falls, Tex. 6-0, and the only other defeat for the Kangaroos was at the hands of Stephen F. Austin in a 35-12 battle.

Coach Joe Allett's Techsters will be after their fifth win of this season Saturday night. The Bulldogs have defeated Louisiana College 27-0, McNeese State 21-10, Howard Payne 13-7, and Northwestern Louisiana 13-6. Tech's losses were to Mississippi College 28-0, Southwestern Louisiana 25-0, and Southeastern Louisiana 35-21.

Tech scout reports show that the Austin College team has an outstanding passer in senior quarterback Don Watson. Leading passer of the Texas Conference last fall, he completed 51 passes in 96 attempts to gain 749 yards.

Another Austin quarterback, just about as good, is Warren Harper, third in passing in the Texas Conference in 1953. A halfback likely to give the Bulldogs some trouble is Jackie Miller, a fast moving freshman who had a sensational record at Van Alstyne (Tex.) High School.

Tech's Bulldogs came out of the Southeastern game last week with no additional injuries and should be in fairly good condition for the contest this week.

Purdue Serious Threat To Ohio State's Record

LAFAYETTE, Ind. Nov. 12 (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeye steamroller, unstopped in seven straight games, rolls in here tomorrow with a nervous eye to its No. 3 national ranking that Purdue's Bollermakers hope to wrench loose.

The big threat is a long, lean sophomore named Len Dawson, who has a habit of unleashing that long touchdown pass—14 so far this year.

The game may hinge on how well Purdue's pass patterns spot a hardy selection of receivers in position to travel. Buck Coach Woody Hayes makes no secret of his strategy—leave Dawson only the short gainers and bottle up the long toss.

The visitors rank a two-touchdown favorite on strength of a punishing ground attack that has gained 1,598 yards in seven games. A stable of consistent gainers like Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, Hubert Bobo and Bob Watkins will present Purdue's line with a tough afternoon.

The Bollermakers are ready after a 25-14 stinging inflicted last week by Iowa, which lost to O.S.U. 20-14 two weeks earlier. The Bucks are comparatively rested after a 26-0 romp over Pittsburgh.

Two items lift Purdue out of the statistical dent. When it came time for Dawson to pick a college, he passed up Ohio State. The Alliance, Ohio, youngster had been Johnny Barton's understudy in high school. He said that was enough, and he may put on the best performance of a sparkling young career just to prove he's glad he picked Purdue. Barton is the Ohio State quarterback.

And there's the Bollermaker memory of 1952's co-championship with Wisconsin when the Big Ten voted to send the Badgers to the Rose Bowl instead of Purdue. By some coincidence, a report has been circulating recently that it was Ohio State's vote which left Wisconsin smelling roses.

Coach Stu Holcomb admits he wouldn't mind seeing a little blossom pruning in Ross Ade Stadium here tomorrow.

Wisner Cops 2nd In 2 Days With Davidson Defeat

ST. JOSEPH, La., Nov. 12 (Special)—The Wisner High School Bulldogs registered their second football triumph in two days here this afternoon as they tripped the Joseph M. Davidson High eleven, 18 to 7. Last night the Bulldogs went to Vidalia to sock the Vikings, 43-12.

Ralph Rayborn, Wisner quarterback, plunged from the three for a first quarter touchdown to put the Bulldogs into the lead, and the visitors got their other two TD's in the second quarter on a five-yard dash by Grady Stevens, and a spectacular 75-yard punt return by Glen Morgan.

Davidson also got its lone touchdown in the second period when Evans scored on a pass play that covered 55 yards.

A feature of Wisner's attack was a Rayborn—Don Chapman passing attack. Rayborn hit the end four times in four tries. Dale Hoover fired the Davidson attack, while Kaeyer was outstanding on defense. Playing good all-around ball for Wisner were Chapman, Hoggatt, Stevens, and Roy Shivor.

Demons, Bulldogs Vie For 2nd Slot In League Chase

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 12 (Special)—Southwestern Louisiana Institute will bring a mediocre four-win, three-loss record to Natchitoches Saturday and lay it on the line against Northwestern State's six-one skein. However, the Demons aren't looking for a push-over by any means, and expect one of the year's toughest games from this Southwestern crew.

S.L.I. has been tabbed as the most improved team in the Gulf States Conference since last week's win over Louisiana College. The Bulldogs dropped their first three games to Lamar Tech, Southeastern Louisiana, and East Texas State. However, the Canines rebounded in their next game to stomp Northeast 41-7, then dropped Arkansas State 36-2.

They pulled off the G.S.C.'s upset of the year two weeks ago when they stopped Louisiana Tech's machine cold to the tune of 25-0. Then last week's conquest of Louisiana College by the rampaging Bulldogs from Lafayette gained them not only the mythical title of most improved team in the conference, but also boosted them into a tie for second place with Northwestern.

So the winner of Saturday's tilt at Demon Stadium will gain undisputed possession of second place in the G.S.C. and a shot at the championship. This will be number two in the series of "must" games by N.S.C. in order to remain in contention for conference laurels. The Purple and White gridders won last week's contest with Northeast State to keep their hopes alive.

The performance of versatile N.S.C. quarterback James "Red" McNew will have much to do with the final score of Saturday's game. McNew came through last week against Northeast as he personally accounted for two of the Demons scores. He also kept the injured defense honest all evening with his deadly accurate aerials.

Northwest Rally Association Has Gathering Today

NATCHITOCHES, La. Nov. 12 (Special)—The executive committee of the Northwest Louisiana High School Rally will have its annual meeting at 9 a.m. Saturday at Northwestern State college. The meeting this year was planned to coincide with homecoming activities of N.S.C.

Members will meet in the faculty room of Caldwell Hall on the N.S.C. campus, beginning promptly at 9 o'clock in order to dismiss in time for the college homecoming parade at 10. Plans will be formulated for the entire rally schedule beginning with the basketball tournament here in February.

Members of the committee and guests will attend the alumni luncheon in the college dining hall and the Northwestern State-Southwestern football game at 2:30 p.m. Nine members of the N.S.C. faculty will also attend the meeting.

Wilmer Jackson, Logansport, is chairman of the committee. Wiley Cummings, Negreet, vice-chairman, and H. H. Turpin, Natchitoches, is secretary.

Other members of the committee include A. B. Simpson, Natchitoches, George Heard, Merryville, A. L. Temple, Leesville; J. J. Webb, Longstreet; L. B. Skinner, Many; Curtis Bradshaw, Anacoco; R. J. Stoker, Pleasant Hill; R. L. Terry, Winnfield; Statham Crosby, Waterproof; Emmett Cope, Bossier City; Clint Jackson, Coushatta; E. R. Minchew, Castor; H. A. Bateman, Ferriday; I. D. Reeves, Columbia; Gaienne Hyams, Campt; Jack Gormly, De Ridder; I. C. Strickland, and L. F. Fowler, Marthaville. All are high school principals.

Women Bowlers Ready For Veterans Tourney

The first annual Veterans Legion Bowling Tournament, a nationwide bowling promotion being conducted in Monroe for the first time, opens at the Monroe Bowling Center this evening and runs through tomorrow with the Monroe Women's Bowling Association sponsoring the event for the lady keepers.

Forty-six individuals, 23 doubles teams, and 18 teams are entered in the show with team matches scheduled for today and doubles and singles on tap for tomorrow.

Contenders have posted $1.50 per person for each singles, doubles, and team event, and the money usually allotted for trophies and awards in such tournaments is being donated to help disabled war veterans. Merchants of this area are making up the award lists with donations.

Teams competing today are: Ouachita National Bank, Memorial Presbyterian, 4 p.m.; Negley Bag Factory, Drake's Ready-Mixed Concrete, Clover Leaf Dairy, Tom Spatafora Grocery, Aaron Stout Insurance, Tony's Redwood Lounge, "Red" Willett Pipe Line, and KNOE-TV, 6:45; Forum—James Asphalt and Fastfall Beer, 7:30; and News-Star—World, Star Motel, Budweiser, Monroe Bowling Center, Skipper's Ho-Made Cream, and Robert Ervin Insurance, 9 p.m.

Doubles teams working tomorrow and also listing entries for singles, are Betty Kutz-Thelma Swan, Martha Dray—Carolyn Welch, De Fleming—Mary Lacara, Betty Smith—Scotty Wood, Joy Watts-Lou Knipping, Hazel Paitich-Ethel Lancaster, Pearl Lofflin-Irma Lee Paddy, Janet Golsen-Rosie Franklin, Norma Brown-Rosie Joiner, Myrtle Moore-Elaine Garland, Edna Wade-June Girod, Hazel Higgins-Joan Dollard, Dolly Rizzo-Hazel Pettit, Lorraine McNabb—Peggy Grigsby, Evelyn Moore-Mary Long, Vera Paitich-Betty Stone, Jackie Mang-Lola Waldron, Cassie McMurry-Coleen Dent, Ella Johnson-Margie Pitts, Ella Cash-Margaret Malone, Ellen Yeldell-Dot Durham, Fay Southall-Madeline Bennett, and Bessie Malery-Daisy Creighton.

Ole Miss Figured To Whip Houston By 3 Touchdowns

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mississippi's Rebels, the nation's seventh ranked team, hope to move a step closer to another Sugar Bowl bid here tomorrow night in an intercollegiate game against twicedefeated Houston.

The Rebels are 18-point favorites for the Re Stadium game that is expected to attract a crowd of about 45,000.

For the second time within three years, Mississippi brings to Houston one of collegiate football's most impressive teams, both on offense and defense.

While compiling a 7-1 record this season, the Rebels have averaged 395.6 yards per game on total offense, the second best average in the nation. They rank fourth on total defense, with seven opponents averaging only 170.1 yards per game. They also rank third on passing offense and second on rushing defense.

The next week Vaught saw his Rebels upset Maryland. Then they clinched a Sugar Bowl trip by defeating Mississippi State.

Undefeated Arkansas three weeks ago handed Mississippi its lone defeat in eight games, gaining a 6-0 victory on a 66-yard fourth quarter pass play.

Houston has looked both good and bad while defeating Texas A. and M., Oklahoma A. and M., Villanova and Tulsa and losing to Baylor and Wichita.

European Champion Defends In Italy

MILAN, Nov. 12 (AP)—European middleweight champion Tiberio Mitro of Italy will defend his title here tomorrow night against Charles Humez of France in a 15-round bout.

Promoter Jack Solomons of London, who is staging the show, said the winner will challenge Bobo Olson of San Francisco for the world title.

British, Aussie Open Champs In Ampol Golf Tie

MELBOURNE, Nov. 12 (AP)—British open champion Peter Thomson and Australian open champion Ossie Pickworth today tied in first place after 36 holes of the Ampol Golf Tournament.

Thomson returned a 70 and Pickworth a 69 for aggregates of 145.

E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of St. Louis notched the best total score among the visiting Americans. He had a 73 for an aggregate of 147, good for third place.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., was four strokes behind him in the seventh place. He had a 72 today. Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Tommy "Thunder" Bolt of Houston tied for eighth with 155.

Furgol had a second round of 74 today and Bolt carded a 73 after a rough 80.

Porkers 6-Point Choice To Down Mustangs Today

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 12 (AP)—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks, who have already turned the pre-season predictions upside down, are favored to beat Southern Methodist here tomorrow and make a clean sweep of their six Southwest Conference games.

The undefeated Razorbacks need only a tie to clinch their second clear-cut conference championship in history. An automatic Cotton Bowl bid accompanies the title.

About 5,000 seats have been added to the stadium to increase its capacity to 27,000 for the Arkansas homecoming game. The Porkers haven't played in their own stadium since Oct. 9. They whipped Texas at Austin, 20-7, Texas A. and M. at College Station, 14-7, and downed Mississippi, 6-0, and Rice, 28-15, at Little Rock.

The Hogs also hold wins over Tulsa, 41-0, Texas Christian, 20-13, and Baylor, 21-20.

Southern Methodist, tied by Texas in conference play, and beaten this season only by Georgia Tech, must win to remain in the running. Even if the Mustangs beat Arkansas, they still must get past Baylor and T.C.U.

However, tradition favors the Porkies. They have beaten the Razorbacks 18 times, while Arkansas has won only nine times. Two games in the long series were ties.

Richardson And Trabert Advance In Anzac Meet

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 12 (AP)—Tony Trabert and Ham Richardson scored swift victories in the second round singles of the New South Wales tennis championships today but their two young teammates, Jerry Moss and Mike Green, were knocked out by second-string Australian players.

Trabert beat Les Flanders of Australia 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Richardson downed Neil Gibson of Australia 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Moss went under to Ashley Cooper 6-2, 5-7, 2-6, 6-4. Green lost out to George Worthington 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

All four Americans drew byes in the first round.

Today's matches reduced the singles field to 16: two Americans, two Swedes, one Briton and the leading Australian players.

In the doubles championship, Trabert and Richardson beat T. Green and G. Regan of Australia 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Moss and Green trailed in their uncompleted match with Australia's W. Johnson and B. Bowman. The Australians took the first two sets 16-14 and 6-2 and led 1-0 in the third.

Arkansas, Ohio State Can Clinch Bids To Big Bowls

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The long college football season draws closer to the end today with a lot of unfinished business before the New Year's Day bowls are filled and all conference races are settled.

Major games are on tap from coast to coast, and there is a possibility a couple of bowl teams will be known before the sun sets Saturday evening.

Two teams leading the bowl scramble at the moment are Arkansas and Ohio State, and they have a couple of toughies barring the way. Ohio State, with an eye on the Pasadena Rose Bowl, plays upset-minded Purdue at Lafayette, Ind. Southern Methodist invades Fayetteville, Ark., to meet the Razorbacks, who are leading the Southwest Conference race. All Arkansas needs is a tie to clinch a berth in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl scrap at Dallas.

Ohio State, No. 2 team in the country, could clinch the Big 10 title by beating Purdue, and with the aid of two big "ifs." Iowa would have to defeat Minnesota at Minneapolis, with Michigan State taming Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Purdue hung the only loss on Notre Dame this year, 27-14, and could gum up the big 10 works by taking unbeaten Ohio State, especially if Michigan and Minnesota should win. Each of the latter has lost one conference game.

In other major clashes, Oklahoma plays Missouri, North Carolina tackles Notre Dame, Georgia Tech has Alabama, Auburn meets Georgia, Southern California plays Washington, Mississippi is at Houston tonight while Navy and Army tune up for their big Nov. 27 clash by taking on Columbia and Pennsylvania, respectively.

U.C.L.A., the No. 1 team, has an open date this week awaiting its game with Southern California next Saturday. Southern California looms as the Pacific Coast entrant in the Rose Bowl regardless, since U.C.L.A. played there last time and can't go twice in a row.

Georgia, unbeaten and once tied in the Southeastern Conference, must get past Auburn and then Georgia Tech next week to have clear sailing into the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, which is not tied to any conference.

The Big Seven situation still is obscure. The conference says Oklahoma, the likely champion again, can't repeat in the Miami Orange Bowl. But that won't prevent the Sooners from knocking Missouri cold, which would leave the way open for Kansas State or Nebraska. Kansas State, however, has beaten Nebraska.

The other Orange Bowl representative comes from the Atlantic Coast Conference, currently led by Maryland and Duke. Last Jan. 1 Maryland played at Miami, and the conference selects the best representative team.

As for the moss-covered traditionalists, Yale and Princeton have their 77th meeting. Yale victories today and over Harvard next week would give the Bulldogs the Ivy League crown, regardless of what happens in this afternoon's Harvard-Brown and Cornell-Dartmouth games.

Other major games today: East — Colgate-Syracuse, Boston University-Boston College, Rutgers-Penn State, Holy Cross-Fordham.

Midwest — Wisconsin-Illinois, Indiana-Northwestern, Iowa State-Kansas State, Kansas-Oklahoma A. and M., Wichita-Cincinnati.

South — Duke-Wake Forest, Clemson-Maryland, Virginia-South Carolina, Richmond-North Carolina State, West Virginia-William and Mary, Wayneburg-Virginia Tech, the Citadel-VMI, Florida-Tennessee, Mississippi State-Louisiana State, Tulane-Vanderbilt, Memphis State-Kentucky, Villanova-Mississippi Southern, Furman-Florida State.

Far West — Colorado-Utah, Wyoming-Brigham Young, Colorado A. and M.-New Mexico, Montana-Montana State, Oregon State-California, Washington State-Oregon, San Jose State-Stanford, Marquette-College of Pacific.

Tech In Final Home Game With Austin Foes Tonight

Ole Miss Figured To Whip Houston By 3 Touchdowns

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 12 (Special) — Mississippi's Rebels, the nation's seventh ranked team, hope to move a step closer to another Sugar Bowl bid here tomorrow night in an intersectional game against twice-defeated Houston.

The Rebels are 18-point favorites for the Rice Stadium game that is expected to attract a crowd of about 45,000.

For the second time within three years, Mississippi brings to Houston one of collegiate football's most impressive teams, both on offense and defense.

While compiling a 7-1 record this season, the Rebels have averaged 395.6 yards per game on total offense, the second best average in the nation. They rank fourth on total defense, with seven opponents averaging only 170.1 yards per game. They also rank third on passing offense and second on rushing defense.

In 1952 Coach Johnny Vaught brought an undefeated but twice-defeated team here to grind out a 6-0 victory in a defensive battle against the best team in the young Houston school's seven years of football.

Wisner Cops 2nd In 2 Days With Davidson Defeat

ST. JOSEPH, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The Wisner High School Bulldogs registered their second football triumph in two days here this afternoon as they tripped the Joseph M. Davidson High eleven, 18 to 7. Last night the Bulldogs went to Vidalia to sock the Vikings, 43-12.

Ralph Rayborn, Wisner quarterback, plunged from the three for a first quarter touchdown to put the Bulldogs into the lead, and the visitors got their other two TD's in the second quarter on a five-yard dash by Grady Stevens, and a spectacular 75-yard punt return by Glen Morgan.

Davidson also got its lone touchdown in the second period when Evans scored on a pass play that covered 55 yards.

A feature of Wisner's attack was a Rayborn - Don Chapman passing attack. Rayborn hit the end four times in four tries. Dale Hoover fired the Davidson attack, while Kaeyer was outstanding on defense. Playing good all-around ball for Wisner were Chapman, Hoggatt, Stevens, and Roy Shivor.

Demons, Bulldogs Vie For 2nd Slot In League Chase

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — Southwestern Louisiana Institute will bring a mediocre four-won, three-lost record to Natchitoches Saturday and lay it on the line against Northwestern State's six-one skein. However, the Demons aren't looking for a push-over by any means, and expect one of the year's toughest games from this Southwestern crew.

S.L.I. has been tabbed as the most improved team in the Gulf States Conference since last week's win over Louisiana College. The Bulldogs dropped their first three games to Lamar Tech, Southeastern Louisiana, and East Texas State. However, the Canies rebounded in their next game to stomp Northeast 41-7, then dropped Arkansas State 36-2.

They pulled off the G.S.C.'s upset of the year two weeks ago when they stopped Louisiana Tech's machine cold to the tune of 25-0. Then last week's conquest of Louisiana College by the rampaging Bulldogs from Lafayette gained them not only the mythical title of most improved team in the conference, but also boosted them into a tie for second place with Northwestern.

So the winner of Saturday's tilt at Demon Stadium will gain undisputed possession of second place in the G.S.C. and a shot at the championship. This will be number two in the series of "must" games by N.S.C. in order to remain in contention for conference laurels. The Purple and White gridders won last week's contest with Northeast State to keep their hopes alive.

The performance of versatile N.S.C. quarterback James "Red" McNew will have much to do with the final score of Saturday's game. McNew came through last week against Northeast as he personally accounted for two of the Demons' scores. He also kept the injury-free honest all evening with his deadly accurate aerials.

Richardson And Trabert Advance In Anzac Meet

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 12 (Special) — Tony Trabert and Ham Richardson scored swift victories in the second round singles of the New South Wales tennis championships today but their two young team mates, Jerry Moss and Mike Green, were knocked out by second-string Australian players.

Trabert beat Les Flanders of Australia 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Richardson downed Neil Gibson of Australia 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Moss went under to Ashley Cooper 6-2, 5-7, 2-6, 6-4. Green lost out to George Worthington 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

All four Americans drew byes in the first round.

Today's matches reduced the singles field to 16; two Americans, two Swedes, one Briton and the leading Australian players.

In the doubles championship, Trabert and Richardson beat T. Green and G. Regan of Australia 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Moss and Green trailed in their uncompleted match with Australia's W. Johnson and B. Bowman. The Australians took the first two sets 16-14 and 6-2 and led 1-0 in the third.

Northwest Rally Association Has Gathering Today

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 12 (Special) — The executive committee of the Northwest Louisiana High School Rally will have its annual meeting at 9 a.m. Saturday at Northwestern State college. The meeting this year was planned to coincide with homecoming activities of N.S.C.

Members will meet in the faculty room of Caldwell Hall on the N.S.C. campus, beginning promptly at 9 o'clock in order to dismiss in time for the college homecoming parade at 10. Plans will be formulated for the entire rally schedule beginning with the basketball tournament here in February.

Members of the committee and guests will attend the alumni luncheon in the college dining hall and the Northwestern State-Southwestern football game at 2:30 p.m. Nine members of the N.S.C. faculty will also attend the meeting.

Wilmer Jackson, Logansport, is chairman of the committee, Wiley Comings, Natchitoches, is secretary.

Other members of the committee include A. B. Simpson, Natchitoches, George Heard, Merryville, A. L. Temple, Leesville; J. J. Webb, Longstreet; L. B. Skinner, Many; Curtis Bradshaw, Anacoco; R. J. Stoker, Pleasant Hill; R. L. Terry, Winnfield; Statham Crosby, Waterproof; Emmett Cope, Bossier City; Clint Jackson, Coushatta; E. R. Minchew, Castor; H. A. Bateman, Ferriday; I. D. Reeves, Columbia; Gaienne Hyams, Campt; Jack Gormly, De Ridder; I. C. Strickland, and L. F. Fowler, Marksville. All are high school principals.

British, Aussie Open Champs In Ampol Golf Tie

MELBOURNE, Nov. 12 (Special) — British open champion Peter Thomson and Australian open champion Ossie Pickworth today tied in first place after 36 holes of the Ampol Golf Tournament.

Thomson returned a 70 and Pickworth a 69 for aggregates of 143. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of St. Louis notched the best total score among the visiting Americans. He had a 73 for an aggregate of 147, good for third place.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., was four strokes behind him in the seventh place. He had a 72 today.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Tommy "Thunder" Bolt of Houston tied for eighth with 1535. Furgol had a second round of 74 today and Bolt carded a 73 after a rough 80.

Thomson said Harrison may prove the danger in the final two rounds tomorrow.

Porkers 6-Point Choice To Down Mustangs Today

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 12 (Special) — The University of Arkansas Razorbacks, who have already turned the pre-season predictions upside down, are favored to beat Southern Methodist here tomorrow and make a clean sweep of their six Southwest Conference games.

The undefeated Razorbacks need only a tie to clinch their second clear-cut conference championship in history. An automatic Cotton Bowl bid accompanies the title.

About 5,000 seats have been added to the stadium to increase its capacity to 27,000 for the Arkansas homecoming game. The Porkers haven't played in their own stadium since Oct. 9. They whipped Texas at Austin, 20-7, Texas A. and M. at College Station, 14-7, and downed Mississippi, 6-0, and Rice, 28-15, at Little Rock.

The Hogs also hold wins over Tulsa, 41-0, Texas Christian, 20-13, and Baylor, 21-20.

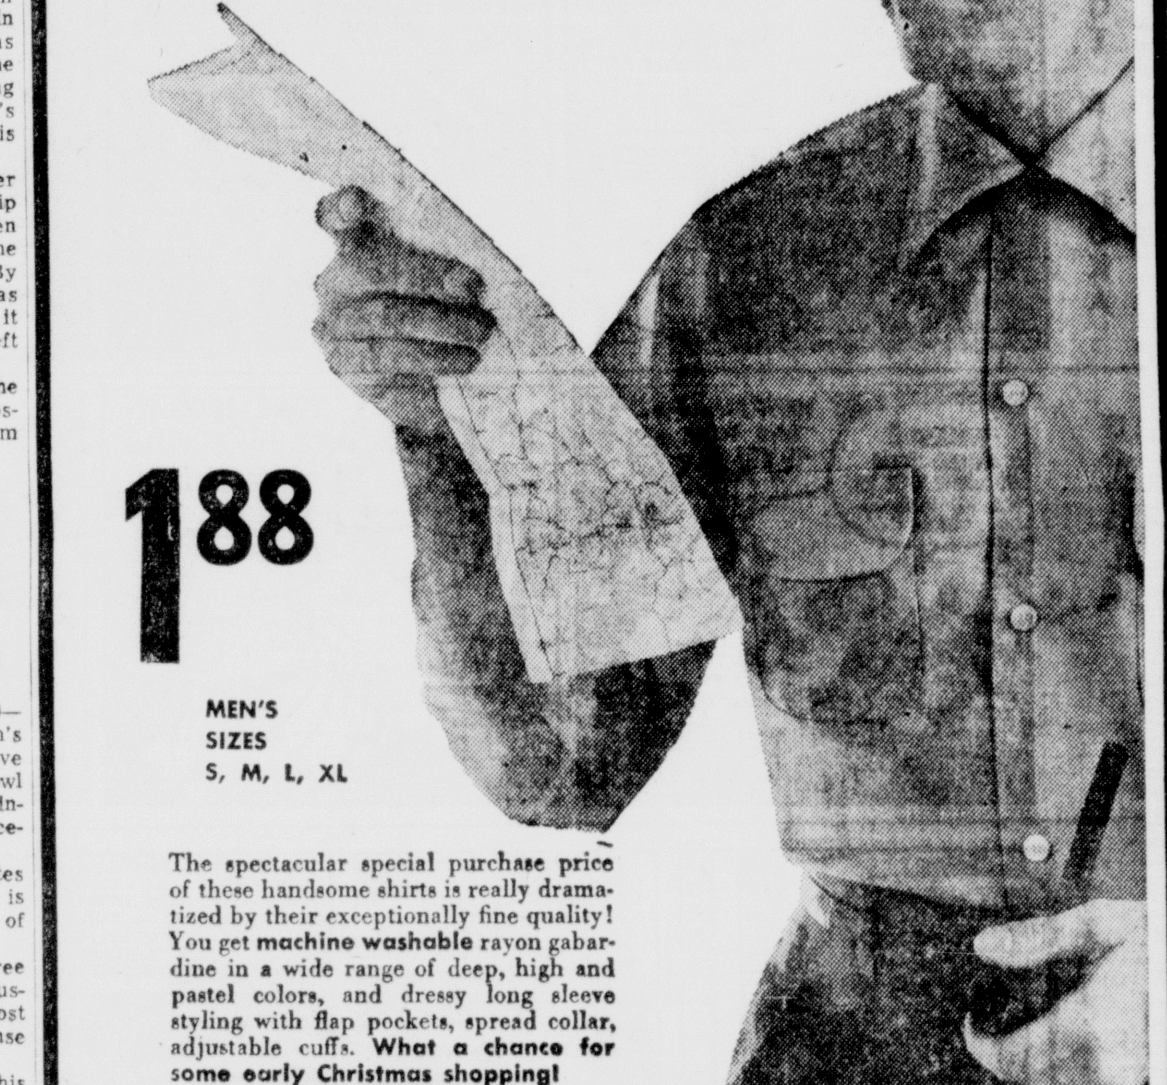

Southern Methodist, tied by Texas in conference play, and beaten this season only by Georgia Tech, must win to remain in the running. Even if the Mustangs beat Arkansas, they still must get past Baylor and T.C.U.

However, tradition favors the Porkies. They have beaten the Razorbacks 18 times, while Arkansas has won only nine times. Two games in the long series were ties.

Both Parties Ask Recounts In N-J Senate Race

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Democratic and Republican parties, acting independently of each other, today sought U. S. Senate election recounts in all of the state's 21 counties.

The Democrats acted last night in behalf of the apparent loser, Charles R. Howell, and the Republicans followed suit today in what they termed "a protective measure" for Clifford P. Case.

The legal moves came as Camden County—the last county to do so—completed its canvass to give Case a plurality of 3,369 votes on the basis of final official figures.

The deadline for filing recount applications is tomorrow.

The Democrats got a head start on filing applications for recounts in the various counties, but it didn't take the Republican legal representatives long to catch up.

Case has claimed victory, but Howell refused to concede.

The official returns from all of the 21 counties show Case with 861,527 votes to Howell with 858,158.

Earlier today former Atty. Gen. Walter D. Van Riper, who has been advising Case on legal matters, announced a recount would be sought by the GOP.

His announcement followed by 16 hours a statement from an aide to Howell saying that the Democrats wanted a recount.

A GOP spokesman said the reasoning behind the recount move was this:

If the Republicans did not obtain recount orders they would be left on a limb if one of the early counties rechecked for the Democrats were to give Howell enough votes to overcome Case's lead.

The Democrats could stop the recount then and there and the Republicans would have no chance to pick up votes in other counties.

The recount is the first of an election for a U. S. senator in the state since popular elections for the office started in 1916. Prior to that year senators were chosen by the Legislature.

Mendes-France Has New Proposal On 'Cold War'

PARIS, Nov. 12 (UP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France on his coming visit to the United States plans to suggest a new way he found to approach Russia and Red China to relax world tension.

The 47-year-old Premier leaves Paris Saturday night for a visit to the United States. He flies first to Quebec.

Sources close to the premier, who has had a greater impact on French policy than any other leader since Gen. Charles de Gaulle after World War II, said Mendes-France wants to establish a firm feeling of confidence between the United States and France.

They said he will propose to American leaders that Western policy be revised toward the Soviets and Chinese Reds to shift from the "cold war" to an era of "coexistence."

Mendes-France will be very cautious in making any proposals about new talks with Russia and "normalization" of Western relations with Communist China, the sources said.

The premier goes to Washington with a comparatively stable government and with strong assurance that the German rearmament treaties will be ratified by the French national assembly next month. A Socialist party vote of support Thursday gave him that assurance.

The French premier will confer with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Electric Co-Op Demands Congressional Approval Of Dixon-Yates Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Mississippi Rural Electric Cooperative, the chairman said, "comparable to that which we are presently enjoying."

Strauss took his position under questioning by Sen. Anderson (D-Miss.), a critic of the contract. But Anderson remarked that it was his impression, from visits to the atomic plant at Los Alamos, N.M., that "the work on the weapons program was moving ahead rapidly."

Commenting from the sidelines, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) challenged Strauss in polite terms.

"A question has been raised as to the time and direction given to the weapons program by the commission and its top staff," he said. "I'm inclined to assign to this more importance than Adm. Strauss's statement would indicate."

Gore also told a reporter that in his opinion the Dixon-Yates contract contains an "illegal evasion" of the atomic energy law—specifically an amendment he sponsored that forbids any direct repayment of federal income taxes to Dixon-Yates.

The contract, he said, includes a base charge to the government of $9,052,050 and one of the four major components of this charge is listed as $536,250 in federal income taxes, at a rate of 52 per cent.

The income tax issue figured in the hearings today, with AEC general manager K. D. Nichols declaring "we carefully tried to avoid any direct payment or reimbursement of income taxes."

Gore said it seemed "a very clear effort has been made here to evade the Gore amendment" by paying the company for estimated taxes, computed quarterly, with the payments made in advance. He called this a "thin line of distinction as against reimbursing the company for taxes after they have been paid."

The senator told an interviewer he didn't believe this method of paying estimated taxes rather than repaying taxes would stand up in court as legal under his amendment.

The contract is certain to be tested in court, Gore said. He noted that Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee has pledged that all the resources of his state will be thrown against Dixon-Yates, in U. S. courts, if necessary.

Trygvie Lie Not For Admission Of Red China To UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 12—UP—Former United Nations Secretary-General Trygvie Lie Friday warned the West against reducing its armaments until the Russians have shown a "readiness to cooperate."

He also declared that admission of Red China to the world organization "would weaken the UN."

Lie, who served as first chief executive of the UN from 1946 to 1953, termed agreement to resume disarmament talks and the current debate on atoms-for-peace "a movement in the right direction."

But he said he believed President Eisenhower's plan for the peaceful use of atomic energy should be placed entirely under the UN and not set up as an operation of a specialized agency loosely linked to the UN.

Lie's remarks came at an informal visit to the UN Press Club. Asked his opinion on whether relations had improved since he visited Moscow as secretary-general and talked with Generalissimo Joseph Stalin in 1950, Lie said:

"I have had so many Communists to deal with since 1917—I think the party machinery is so strong, personality disappears so you don't know who is genuine and who you can trust."

"But there has been an improvement in social relations and the movement is in the right direction in the UN..."

Marshal Hurt In Shooting Mishap Improving Here

J. D. Jones, town marshal of Gilbert, was in a much improved condition at the St. Francis Sanitarium last night following treatment for an accidentally inflicted pistol wound in the left leg, which resulted in a compound fracture, his wife reported.

Mrs. Jones said the accident occurred Thursday night between 8 and 9 p.m. on Coater's point, on the Tensas River, while her husband was preparing to return to Gilbert after a fishery.

She said Jones had left his pistol on the front seat of the car during the fish supper, and was moving it off the seat when he started to embark for home. It accidentally discharged, with the bullet entering his leg between the thigh and the knee.

W. N. Lathern, also of Gilbert, rushed the marshal to the Winnboro Sanitarium where he was given emergency treatment for the wound. Lathern then notified Mrs. Jones, and the wounded man was removed by ambulance to the St. Francis Sanitarium in Monroe.

N. E. Professor Attending Miss. Science Session

Emmett Foster, assistant professor of chemistry at Northeast State, is representing the college at a science workshop being held on the University of Mississippi campus.

The event, which is being attended by numerous Louisiana educators, opened Friday for a two-day meeting.

Organization of a regional science fair is the main purpose of the conference. The regional fairs are being planned with a view toward stimulating wider interest in science. The group of instructors will offer better opportunities for secondary school students to begin scientific careers.

The Louisiana Academy of Science is one of the organizations cooperating with the University of Mississippi in the presentation of the conference.

Judge Continues Heavy Fining Of Drunk Drivers

Fourth District Judge David I. Garrett continued his crackdown on drunk drivers in court yesterday on misdemeanor day when seven persons were fined or given jail sentences for driving while intoxicated. Others were arraigned on various other liquor law violations.

Out of a total of 39 charges brought to the court's attention, 17 of them involved alcoholic beverages in some way. Daniel J. Senn was sentenced to 90 days in jail on a drunk driving charge, while six others were fined. They were Sam Reed, $400 and costs, or four months in jail; John Henry King, Jr., $300 and costs, or three months; Roy L. O'Brien, $300 and costs, or three months; Norman Pinton, $300 and costs, or three months; George C. Harville, $300 and costs, or three months, and Frank L. Rowe, $300 and costs or three months.

Several arraignments on liquor violations came before the court for pleadings. This included: Gladys Mitchell, pleading not guilty to selling beverages of low alcoholic content to minors, and failure to close place of business where alcoholic beverages are sold, at midnight, trial date set for Dec. 10.

Collin Johnson entered a not guilty plea to a charge of selling intoxicating beverages of low alcoholic content to minors, trial date, Dec. 10.

Leland Caples pleaded not guilty

Police Shooting Of Negro Man Is Investigated

A full-scale investigation was conducted here this week into the month-old wounding of a Negro by Monroe Police Capt. Allen Corbin. It was learned yesterday.

The investigation was touched off by protests from a Negro citizens' committee in connection with the shooting of Jasper Holland, a Negro laborer, while Corbin was attempting to arrest him October 9.

Holland, charged with simple battery and profane language was wounded in the foot by a blast from Corbin's gun and was hospitalized. He has since been released from the hospital and is free on bond on the charges.

The citizens' committee, composed of members of the N. A. A. C. P., and members of several Negro veterans' and civic organizations, sent a delegation to the police department Wednesday to protest what they called an "unprovoked" wounding of a Negro, according to S. L. Pierce, a Negro pastor and chairman of the citizens' committee.

"An occurrence of this kind can wipe out in ten minutes the good relations it may have taken ten years to build," Pierce said. The Negro pastor said the delegation called on Chief of Police M. L. Peters to protest the shooting and ask "for some sort of instructions to be given the officers to prevent them from such action."

At the time of the shooting, Corbin said he fired at Holland after the Negro attacked him while he was trying to arrest him on a simple battery charge.

Chief Peters said an investigation of the case was made at the time of the shooting, but no formal statements were taken. Following the visit of the Negro delegation, police began taking formal statements from the witnesses and Peters said he would inform the committee in writing of the police department's attitude in the case after the investigation is completed.

Pierce said "no action has been contemplated as yet by the committee," and added that as far as he knew none would be taken in the event the police department does not act against Capt. Corbin.

set for trial yesterday, was reset for Dec. 10.

Leon Fontana, scheduled to be tried yesterday for aggravated assault, will be tried on Dec. 10. Fontana and Vincent Balsamo, charged with disturbing the peace, will also be tried on Dec. 10. Also set for Dec. 10 is the trial of Joe and Angelo Battaglia on a peace warrant.

Defeated citizens are really defeated concerning one important fact about the town's history. This place was named after a battle between some Indians and whites in which one side was defeated. But which side was it? No one knows.

NOT GUILTY PLEAS ENTERED

Not guilty pleas were entered on two charges by Luther Wingard, with trial on both counts set for Dec. 10. The charges were selling beverages of high alcoholic content to minors, and permitting minors in a place of business where alcoholic beverages are sold.

James Honeycutt was sentenced to one year in jail from date of arrest on a charge of aggravated assault, and Buck B. Gresham was sentenced to non-concurrent jail terms on three counts.

Gresham was sentenced to six months on a simple battery charge; 30 days for disturbing the peace, and three months in jail for resisting an officer. Other court action included the following:

J. D. Calhoun pleaded not guilty to a theft of $20, and the case was set for trial.

Trial of Reuben Allen was set for Dec. 10 on a gambling charge after he pleaded not guilty.

Earnest Johnson was fined $100 and costs, or 30 days, for speeding.

On a reckless driving count, H. M. Hare was fined $50 and costs, or 30 days.

Trial of R. H. Hendrix was set for Dec. 10 on a charge of unauthorized use of a movable. Dan Spiller was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days, for disturbing the peace.

Walter Grey pleaded not guilty to disturbing the peace, and trial was set for Dec. 10.

Trial of Art Simmons on five counts of theft, involving sums of $5, $5, $5, $15, and $10, was set for Dec. 10 after he entered not guilty pleas in each case.

Two trials originally set for Dec. 3 were reset to Dec. 10. They were those of Harrison Killens, charged with simple battery, and Samuel Harold Little, charged with disposing of mortgaged property.

The trial of Willie DeBurr, charged with fire-raising of lands of another by criminal negligence,

DELAY IS OVER—After nine years of delay and heartbreak that took them thousands of miles, the Goreland family of Rosenberg, Tex., have finally realized their dream of being officially admitted to the United States. In 1940 the Gorelands sailed for Germany in their boat "Dugong" and in 1945 tried to re-enter America. Quota numbers, registry lists, and "stateless status" took them on many thousand miles quest seeking re-admission. Family are shown on their boat in Galveston. Judge Continues Heavy Fining Of Drunk Drivers

Fourth District Judge David I. Garrett continued his crackdown on drunk drivers in court yesterday on misdemeanor day when seven persons were fined or given jail sentences for driving while intoxicated. Others were arraigned on various other liquor law violations.

Out of a total of 39 charges brought to the court's attention, 17 of them involved alcoholic beverages in some way.

Daniel J. Senn was sentenced to 90 days in jail on a drunk driving charge, while six others were fined. They were Sam Reed, $400 and costs, or four months in jail; John Henry King, Jr., $300 and costs, or three months; Roy L. O'Brien, $300 and costs, or three months; Norman Pinton, $300 and costs, or three months; George C. Harville, $300 and costs, or three months, and Frank L. Rowe, $300 and costs or three months.

Several arraignments on liquor violations came before the court for pleadings. These included: Gladys Mitchell, pleading not guilty to selling beverages of low alcoholic content to minors, and failure to close place of business where alcoholic beverages are sold, at midnight, trial date set for Dec. 10.

Collin Johnson entered a not guilty plea to a charge of selling intoxicating beverages of low alcoholic content to minors, trial date, Dec. 10.

Leland Caples pleaded not guilty to selling beer without a license, set Dec. 10.

Woodie McLaurin pleaded not guilty to permitting minors in a place of business where alcoholic beverages are handled, set for Dec. 10.

Lee Anding entered not guilty counts to four charges, and trial date was set for Dec. 10. The charges were permitting minors in a place of business where alcoholic beverages are handled, two counts; selling beverages of low alcoholic content to minors, two counts.

Not guilty pleas were entered on two charges by Luther Wingard, with trial on both counts set for Dec. 10. The charges were selling beverages of high alcoholic content to minors, and permitting minors in a place of business where alcoholic beverages are sold.

James Honeycutt was sentenced to one year in jail from date of arrest on a charge of aggravated assault, and Buck B. Gresham was sentenced to non-concurrent jail terms on three counts.

Gresham was sentenced to six months on a simple battery charge; 30 days for disturbing the peace, and three months in jail for resisting an officer.

Other court action included the following:

J. D. Calhoun pleaded not guilty to a theft of $20, and the case was set for trial.

Trial of Reuben Allen was set for Dec. 10 on a gambling charge after he pleaded not guilty.

Earnest Johnson was fined $100 and costs, or 30 days, for speeding.

On a reckless driving count, H. M. Hare was fined $50 and costs, or 30 days.

Trial of R. H. Hendrix was set for Dec. 10 on a charge of unauthorized use of a movable.

Dan Spiller was fined $25 and costs, or 10 days, for disturbing the peace.

Walter Grey pleaded not guilty to disturbing the peace, and trial was set for Dec. 10.

Trial of Art Simmons on five counts of theft, involving sums of $5, $5, $5, $15, and $10, was set for Dec. 10 after he entered not guilty pleas in each case.

Two trials originally set for Dec. 3 were reset to Dec. 10. They were those of Harrison Killens, charged with simple battery, and Samuel Harold Little, charged with disposing of mortgaged property.

The trial of Willie DeBurr, charged with fire-raising of lands of another by criminal negligence,

Police Shooting Of Negro Man Is Investigated

A full-scale investigation was conducted here this week into the month-old wounding of a Monroe Negro by Monroe Police Capt. Allen Corbin, it was learned yesterday.

The investigation was touched off by protests from a Negro citizens' committee in connection with the shooting of Jasper Holland, a Negro laborer, while Corbin was attempting to arrest him October 9.

Holland, charged with simple battery and profane language was wounded in the foot by a blast from Corbin's gun and was hospitalized. He has since been released from the hospital and is free on bond on the charges.

The citizens' committee, composed members of the N. A. A. C. P., and members of several Negro veterans' and civic organizations, sent a delegation to the police department Wednesday to protest what they called an "unprovoked" wounding of a Negro, according to S. L. Pierce, a Negro pastor and chairman of the citizens' committee.

"An occurrence of this kind can wipe out in ten minutes the good relations it may have taken ten years to build," Pierce said.

The Negro pastor said the delegation called on Chief of Police M. L. Peters to protest the shooting and ask "for some sort of instructions to be given the officers to prevent them from such action."

At the time of the shooting, Corbin said he fired at Holland after the Negro attacked him while he was trying to arrest him on a simple battery charge.

Chief Peters said an investigation of the case was made at the time of the shooting, but no formal statements were taken. Following the visit of the Negro delegation, police began taking formal statements from the witnesses and Peters said he would inform the committee in writing of the police department's attitude in the case after the investigation is completed.

Pierce said "no action has been contemplated as yet by the committee," and added that as far as he knew none would be taken in the event the police department does not act against Capt. Corbin.

set for trial yesterday, was reset for Dec. 10.

Leon Fontana, scheduled to be tried yesterday for aggravated assault, will be tried on Dec. 10. Fontana and Vincent Balsamo, charged with disturbing the peace, will also be tried on Dec. 10.

Also set for Dec. 10 is the trial of Joe and Angelo Battaglia on a peace warrant.

NO RECORD — Defeated citizens are really defeated concerning one important fact about the town's history. This place was named after a battle between some Indians and whites in which one side was defeated. But which side was it? No one knows.
